10 Basic Search Engine Preparation Tips

10 Basic Search Engine Preparation Tips by Detlev Reimer

While many people think it is enough to have web site to earn hundreds or thousands of dollars within a few weeks, it is much harder in reality to get people to your web site and then it is another thing to get them to buy something from you.

But that's a different story. Let's concentrate on the first aspect: Getting traffic and especially getting targeted traffic. You don't want to have cat lovers on your site when you are selling dog food, do you ?

How do you get targeted prospects ? First of all, you must know your potential customers. Who are they ? What are they looking for ? So the first thing , even before you have built your web site, is to know which keywords your prospects would search for.

It is not as hard as you might think. But if you have a general topic like I have myself with Internet Marketing, it might be a much better idea to concentrate just on one aspect of Internet Marketing.

Friend, you ask why ? Did you ever perform a search on AltaVista for the term "Internet Marketing"? Yes ? Then you will certainly know that there about 6 million web sites competing for the top position on "Internet Marketing".

It is very hard, if not impossible to reach a rank in the top 10 or even the top 30 for such a general term. But if you concentrate on, let me say autoresponders, then there are a lot less pages that deal with that topic.

1.) Choosing your domain name

This means, when you order your domain name, be sure to include your keywords in your domain name. To take the example just mentioned above: If you're selling dog food, don't take a domain like www.petshop.com .

Because then people could think that you are selling cat food, bird food etc. , too. You want to target your potential customers, so your domainname would be rather something like : www.dogfood.com or similar .

So now you've designed your pages. What comes next ?

2.) Frames/no-frames

Web pages which use frames have one big disadvantage: Some search engines are not able to index them correctly. They cannot follow the links that are included on these pages and that means that they won't be able to show the results of your pages.

If you want to be on the safe side, create your web pages without using frames. There are some tricks to enable a correct indexing but this would lead too far for this time.

3.) The title of your homepage

It almost goes without saying that your title should have your keywords included as well. You should choose a title that includes your four most important keywords. If you have a site where people can learn how to write ads, you could give your page a title that has the word ads in it plus some of your other keywords.

Example : "Writing ads: How to write ads that sell your products like crazy." You have repeated your most important keyword "ads" and you have used other keywords like "writing", "write" and "sell".

4.) Meta tag : description

Meta tags are additional pieces of information which are placed within the HTML – code. Your description reflects the most important part of your homepage since this is the description that is shown when someone searches for your site on a search engine.

You should clearly state the benefits of visiting your site. It should be a little ad for your site. You should include your keywords once again but not more than twice. I'll give you an example of my own site and then it looks like this :

Advertisements ? Discover The Little-Known Secrets Of Writing "Killer"-Headlines !" name=description>

5.) Meta tag : keywords

The Meta tag keywords should be used to put in all your keywords that are relevant for your site . It is crucial to put your 4 most important keywords at the beginning. You can include 15 further keywords and even more .

Example :

writing winning sales letters, prospects, online, web, internet, marketing, campaign, writer, marketer, promotion, copywriter, top-seller" name=keywords>

6.) Meta tag : robots

You create a little robots.txt to let the search engine know which links it should follow. If you want to exclude certain directories, you can use special commands which forbid the search engine spiders to follow a complete path.

This can be necessary e.g. to avoid that the search engines link to your download page where you have the articles you want to sell. An example can be found below :

robots.txt for http://www.internetmarketing-success.com/
file created: 16.08.01
User-agent: *
Disallow: /cgi/# exclude robots from specified tree
Disallow: /scripts/

file modified: 16.08.01

7.) Keyword density

Your main keyword should be mentioned within the first 8 words of your body text and can be mentioned 3 times more. The other keywords should not be forgotten, too. Try to use them at least 3 times in your text.

8.) Alt-tags for your images

Alt-tags are alternative descriptions for your pictures. If you move your mouse-cursor over your pictures, you can see this alternative text. This text is also shown if a picture is not loaded correctly. Use your keywords to describe your pictures.

9.) No tricks like white text on white background !

Some people consider themselves to be very smart and they want to outwit the search engines by putting a lot of their keywords with a font in the background colour on their pages to make it more relevant to the engines.

But times have changed : The search engines recognize these tricks and as a result your pages are banned from their index. Try just to do what is necessary but don't use tricks, it won't do you no good.

10.) Link-Popularity

Many search engines like AltaVista have a new ranking concept which includes link-popularity. This means, the more pages have a link to your site, the better your site gets ranked.

Some of them have also made special deals with pay-per-click search engines. Those sites which rank on the top 3 will also get a high rank at "normal" search engines.

How To Get High Rankings On A Major Search Engine

By Steve Pavis

If you want to have a successful Internet business, you need to have a good understanding of the surfing habits of your readers—and more specifically, how they find information on a major search engine.

10 Basic Search Engine Preparation Tips

Studies show that 85% of users rely on major search engine to find info. The most popular major search engine is the Google search engine. When they look for information on a major search engine, they type certain key words or phrases. You need to find the phrase that will lead them to you.

Almost half of all Internet surfers type several words when they look for information on a major search engine. They have learned that with the millions of websites listed on a major search engine, using key phrases rather than words will narrow down the search of that major search engine.

For example, someone who is researching on scrapbooking on a major search engine will probably key in "scrapbooking clubs", "scrapbooking contests" or even "free scrapbooking fonts". If you want to be on the top results of the major search engine, you need to contain these key phrases.

There are many companies that can give you a list of the most popular queries made on each major search engine. However, bear in mind that you don't want to use a key phrase that is being used by several websites, as that means you will be competing with all of them for good search engine placement.

Do a little research to find out how people will look for information related to your product, and how they would post this question on a major search engine. You should also consider a key word's common misspellings (e.g. scrap booking) as even the best major search engine will see it as a separate topic.

You should also submit your site to more than one major search engine. Studies show that 77% use several major search engine to research.

Plus the different major search engine have unique techniques for indexing sites, so your ranking on one major search engine will be different from your ranking on another major search engine.
