10 Easy Ways To Create Traffic Pulling Content!

By Larry Dotson

1. Publish your visitor's comments or questions that you receive via e-mail. Include your response for each comment. Just get their legal permission first.
2. Interview experts or famous people your visitors would recognize. All you have to do is write out the questions. Just publish the interview on your site.
3. Place a discussion board on your web site. Your visitors would create the content for you, but don't forget to participate on the board too.
4. Accept guest articles related to the theme of your web site. You could publish them when needed or combine them in a huge article directory.
5. Review products and services that your visitors might be interested in buying. Publish your opinions about them right on your web site.
6. Create a recommend links directory that includes your own personal summary of the sites. This'll help your visitors decide if they want to visit the site.
7. Trade content with similar web sites and e-zines. You would both benefit from the new content and could also cross promote each others web site.
8. Publish your own personal diary about things that relate to running and promoting your web site. You could publish it daily or weekly.

9. Create a free ebook directory. You could accept submissions from your visitors and publish your own free ebooks.

10. Add some visual content to your web site. You could add pictures and graphics with descriptions, charts and graphs, visual statistics and results, etc.

You Can Drive More Traffic To Your Website!

You Can Drive More Traffic To Your Website! by John Colanzi

Are you looking for a free method of developing a steady flow of traffic to your site?

Dumb question, isn't it?

Have you ever thought about how many ways you can use informative articles to increase your traffic? A good article can get you a lot of mileage.

Put together a collection of articles and you've got a method to draw traffic to your site for months, even years.

Most marketers think of using articles as content on their site and for submission to ezines.

That is truly only the tip of the iceberg. Although you'll draw traffic if you stopped there, you're using less than half the power of good content.

Submitting articles to ezines will bring a short rapid boost in your traffic, but that's just a short term solution. Stop submitting new articles and your traffic slowly begins to decline.

So how do you take advantage of the long term pulling power of your articles?

There are four simple steps you can take that will have your articles driving new visitors to your site for months, even years.

10 Easy Ways To Create Traffic Pulling Content!

1. Submit your articles to the announcement lists. Not only will many ezines pick up your article, but there are many webmasters looking at these lists to bulk up their sites content.
2. Submit your articles to all the sites that specialize in content for publishers and webmasters. I've had articles on these sites that I'd forgotten I'd even written until a webmaster or publisher notifies me they are using them.
3. Offer webmasters in your niche market the free use of your articles to beef up their content.
4. Once you've got 10 – 15 articles compile an ebook of your article archives. Give it a catchy title, allow it to be freely transmittable and your articles will start spreading all over the web.

Just by adding these four simple steps you've gone from a one time spike in traffic, to a method of driving traffic to your site for years to come.

Remember an article that's run two or three years ago is still new to someone who's never read it. I've had publishers contact me about articles that are two years old.

Take the time to develop a steady campaign of article submission and you'll have your link on hundreds, even thousands of sites.

What are you waiting for? Start developing your campaign now! You'll be glad you did.

Wishing You Success
