3 Surefire Ways to Combat Rising Gas Prices
by Tim Ward

I have heard the rumblings of many of you in Readerland about the recent spike in gasoline prices. In fact it's all I seem to hear about lately. But at least it keeps you from rumbling about the infrequency of my columns and articles. Nonetheless, I have decided to try to help you get through this crisis by generously providing: 3 Ways to Combat Rising Gas Prices!

1. Don't Drive Your Car

This is, of course, the most obvious solution. If you never take the old Plymouth out the driveway, then it won't matter that at current gas prices it takes $125 to fill up the 30 gallon gas tank, or that you only get about 2.51 miles to the gallon. If you never drive, you could care less.

Of course, I know what you're going to say. "But Tim, I have places I need to go—like work. And the kids have school and soccer practice. And then there's grocery shopping and yoga lessons and dinner at the Richardsons and blah blah blah and...." Ok, I get the point. Not everyone can sit around the house writing not-so-funny articles and searching the Internet for Drew Barrymore photos like me. I fully understand that some of you have a life. But just because you don't drive your own car doesn't mean you can't get around. The answer?

2. Carpool

It's seems so simple now doesn't it. Instead of using your gas—Use Someone Else's! Have someone else pay $5.50 a gallon for gas to take your kids to school. Make someone else dip into their retirement fund just so they can cover the gas bill needed to get you to the office and back everyday. Make someone else get a second job so that they can have a full tank of gas in their SUV when your daughter needs to cruise the mall. It's so simple.

Of course, the concept behind carpooling is that everyone takes turns driving. So in a normal carpool situation you would eventually be required to use your car and spend your money driving others around. But this is not a Normal Carpool Situation, this is a Tim Ward Carpool Situation (TWCPS). In a TWCPS you avoid using your own car by making it so that the other carpool participants would rather walk barefoot on 120 degree asphalt than ride with you. You achieve this by:

(a) never washing or cleaning your car. Leave it looking and smelling like the county landfill.

(b) Have the worst behaved child in your family sitting in the front seat at all times. Feed the child lots of candy so he/she is always superhyper.

(c) Refuse to discuss anything in your car except your spouses bad bathing habits, bodily fluids, hang nails, chest hair, etc.

(d) Only play reggae music on the radio. Loud!

You shouldn't have to worry about anyone wanting to ride with you ever again.

3. Ride the Bus/Subway

Many cities have a mass transit system that is an alternative to driving your own vehicle. If you live in a city that doesn't have one don't worry—you can always move. Of course, riding public transportation does have a few drawbacks, but these can be easily overcome if you follow these simple guidelines:

1. No matter what happens never, ever make eye contact with anyone. Making eye contact is an invitation for someone to mug you.
2. No matter what happens never, ever give up your seat to anyone. This is seen as weakness, and will be taken as an invitation to mug you.
3. No matter how tempted you are never, ever strike up a conversation with the person sitting next or across from you. This is very annoying and can be taken as an invitation for someone to mug you. Or worse, for someone to talk back.
4. Always make sure you are alert to get on and off at the right stop. Getting off at the wrong stop can lead to immediate mugging.
5. Never, ever take children with you on public transportation. Fellow passengers hate children. Children make you definite mug victim material.

Well, there you have it. 3 ways to deal with rising gas prices. Hopefully, you will be able to use these methods to keep from spending twice your car's Blue Book value just going to Walmart. Hopefully, next time your friends are grumbling and ranting about the mounting gas prices you will be able to just sit back and smile, content because the issue no longer concerns you. Hopefully, I've once more helped my loyal readers in a time of crisis. And all I ask in return as a simple thank you next time you see me. Just make sure we're not on the bus. I'd hate to have to mug you...

Why The Surefire G2 Flashlight Is A Great Buy

By S. Arya

The Surefire G2 flashlight is an excellent buy. The G2 is the most cost effective flashlight Surefire manufacturers and provides the same light output as Surefire which cost four times as much.

The Surefire G2 comes in an indestructible Nitrolon body which is basically a reinforced form of plastic. Do not be fooled this light is lightweight, powerful, compact and pack a punch. It puts out sixty lumens which is equivalent to other Surefire lights such as:

· Surefire 6P · Surefire G2Z · Surefire C3

The above mentioned lights are much more expensive then the G2 because of the aircraft aluminum used versus the Nitrolon.

The Surefire 6P puts out a clean, focused, tactical beam that produces four times the average two D Cell flashlights. The Surefire G2 has the capability to temporarily blind an attacker and also has the ability to disorient someone who has adapted their vision to the night. An optional Surefire P61 lamp assembly is available which doubles the run time however the battery life drops 66%. The Surefire G2 is supplied with the standard P60 lamp assembly which provides 60 lumens for 60 minutes, however with optional P61 a searing 120 lumens is produced but the run time is a mere 20 minutes.

The Surefire G2 requires 2 CR123 batteries and comes in four colors:

· Black · Desert Tan · Yellow · Olive Drab Green

The Surefire G2 flashlight features the following:

· Weatherproof body with O Ring Seals · Tail cap switch when pressed is a momentary light however when twisted it is constantly on · Turn the switch two full turns from the on position and the safety is engaged to prevent accidental lighting when being packed or traveled. · Supplied with 2 CR123 Batteries

The Surefire G2 is 4.9 inches long and 4.1 ounces heavy. Optional accessories include:

· SC1 Spares Carrier for carrying bulbs and batteries (spare) · Z33 Lanyard · FM37 Beamcover and Lens protector · V70 Speed holster · V20 Fixed Loop Holster · F28 Traffic Wand

The Surefire G2 as mentioned earlier is the most cost effective light and yet provides the equivalent performance of much more expensive Surefire lights. If you do not want to shell out the big bucks for a Surefire this light is an excellent choice.

ProductWizard.com has been involved with the sales of Surefire Flashlights for over six years and has a well rounded knowledge handheld illumination technology. For further information go to
