30 Inch LCD TV Review

By Roger Wembley

A 30 inch LCD TV is a good sized TV for most households. The inch 30 LCD TV is not so big that it overpowers a room. At the same time it is large enough so you will be able to really get into whatever it is you are watching. If you are just beginning your search for a 30 inch LCD TV then there are a couple things that you should do before making a purchase.

When beginning your search for a 30 inch LCD TV you should start by reading reviews of various 30 inch LCD TV models. This will give you an idea of what features you will be looking for. Consumer Reports is a great place to start looking for a 30 inch LCD TV because they will give you unbiased reports on all major name brands. You can find Consumer Reports on the web at Once you have an idea of what kind of 30 inch LCD TV that you are looking for, you can begin comparison shopping via the internet. There are so many online stores out there that offer 30 inch LCD TVs that you will have no problem finding a deal. There are, however, a few pointers to take note of before whipping out your credit card to make a purchase of a 30 inch LCD TV online.

First, you need to take shipping of your 30 inch LCD TV into account. Shipping for an item of this size and weight can be well over a hundred dollars, which is going to increase the total price you pay. You also need to make sure that you are buying your 30 inch LCD TV from a reputable dealer online. Read their customer reviews and make sure other people have been satisfied with their customer service. Also, make sure they offer things like warranties and everything else that you would be offered when purchasing a 30 inch LCD TV from a reputable bricks and mortar retail store such as Best Buy or Circuit City.

That being said, here is a review of a 30 inch LCD TV as well as the cheapest price found on the web to get you started on your search for the perfect model.
