A Nanny Cam Can Save The Life Of Your Child

By Carl Walker

Are you sure that your child is in safe hands? Are you confident that your little one is not the victim of his nanny's man-handling? It is time to evaluate the faith you bestowed upon your nanny with a nanny cam.

Your child's protection must be in your hands. It is your duty to save-guard your baby from any external or psychological injuries. But unfortunately, today's parents cannot spare the time required to bring up a child. Daddies are almost burdened under the piles and piles of papers left on him and moms are busy catering their ever-complaining bosses. Therefore who is going to sit in the house to see their little ones grow? It is at this point of time the nannies come to the scene. And with every nanny should come a nanny cam.

These kind of exclusive maids who are hired as care-giver to young children, in absence of their parents are ideally expected to be their second mother. But society is not so pleasant and defined always. With different individuals the definitions differ. The society, therefore, consists of both good nannies, that are responsible, caring and generous, and bad nannies that are greedy, treacherous, and abusive. Because you never know when you are out, she may turn into a witch. So if you are equipped with a nanny cam somewhere hidden in your house, then you can capture the actual scenario.

Child abuse is one of the most common evils of the contemporary society. A child can easily become a victim in the world of adults for various causes and a child upbringing in nanny's hand can be one of them. A couple in U.S.A. was busy in their packed schedule, so they hired nanny to take care of their newly born girl child. Gradually, as days passed by, the mother noticed certain abnormalities in her daughter's behavior. Although she looked happy and healthy, she developed certain peculiarities that put her parents into suspicion. They managed to hide a nanny cam in their daughter's room. At the end of the day when they played the video they were shocked. They discovered that the nanny used her fists to injure the child on her head when she cried aloud.

They were horrified and immediately complained the police with the cam.

Thereafter she was arrested. Such cases are common in society now—a–days. So it is the parents' duty to provide full security and a suitable atmosphere for the child to grow. Even though parental love cannot be replaced by any other person still you need to rely on a maid at the hour of desperation. But you must be fully assured of her faithfulness. Thus to feel safe and secured, you must make an arrangement of a nanny cam to check the interactions between the nanny and your child. However there are always differences in opinions when you are buying a hidden cam. Some will say it is an essential tool while the others will complain that it disturbs someone's privacy and a sheer waste of money. But if you want a guaranteed safety for your child, then a hidden nanny cam is a must.

They are plenty and variety of nanny cams on the market now. Most of them are unique and difficult to trace out by anybody unknown in the house. Some of them are:

1. A book hidden camera which no one affords to suspect is located in the spine of the book and the batteries remain inside the pages.
2. `Exit' sign hidden cameras are small cameras that are hidden in the signboards written `Exit'. These are useful in hotels, restaurants and houses too.
3. Silk plant nanny cams are special kinds of silk plants made to capture the activities going on inside the house.

There are many others like picture–frame hidden nanny cams, air purifier hidden cameras etc that can be placed anywhere you want in your house.

A Nanny Cam Can Save The Life Of Your Child

Nanny cams come hidden in all sorts of household objects and appliances: tissue boxes, humidifiers, teddy bears, plants, clocks, books, clock radios, and more.

Out of all the choices, my favorite is the wireless 2.4 GHz clock radio nanny cam, which just happens to be the best seller at our store.

Here's the reason I like the clock radio so much:

- 1.) This Nanny Cam has three great uses — It's a nanny cam, its a clock, and it's also a fully functioning radio!
- 2.) When the clock radio nanny cam is plugged in, the camera is always on, even if you turn the radio off.
- 3.) The clock radio has natural "Domestic Camouflage" – in other words, it blends into a room without being noticed, even by people familiar with the room. If you put up a new wall clock or put a new teddy bear on a bedroom shelf, people will immediately realize that something new has been added. On the other hand, a clock radio nanny cam will go unnoticed 9 out of 10 times.
- 4.) The wireless clock radio nanny cam is "Location Neutral" — This is just a fancy way of saying that you can put this camera anywhere! How about on a kitchen countertop, or in the family room, or on a bedside stand in the bedroom? See what I mean? There are very few places where a clock radio looks out of place.
- 5.) A clock radio that has a Sony CCD camera gives you a crystal clear image. I prefer a CCD to a CMOS camera because of its superior performance.
- 6.) The clock radio, providing it has quality components, has enough range to transmit video through walls to the far end of your house without compromising image quality.
- 7.) A clock radio with a lux rating of 0.05 or lower performs well under low light conditions. A nanny cam with a lux rating of 1.0 or higher produces a poor and grainy image in dim lighting. Let's face it; a nanny cam that won't allow you to see what's going on in a room with low light is almost worthless.

8.) A good clock radio nanny cam is usually equipped with a 3.7 mm lens which provides a great wide angle view of the room.

9.) A clock radio can be placed almost anywhere in the room which allows you to position it for the best view. A teddy bear, book, humidifier, or any of the other nanny cams have natural restrictions on where you can place them.

10.) This Nanny Cam uses a.c. power and looks natural plugged into the wall. No need to disguise power cords or worry about batteries. In most instances you'll be using the nanny cam for extended periods of time. Batteries usually only last about 2–3 hours. To use a teddy bear cam or a book cam for this length of time you have to use the a.c. power adapter. Don't you think an "Electric Teddy Bear" might look suspicious?
