A New Way of Looking At Challenges

A New Way of Looking At Challenges by Judi Singleton

When we are born we are all authentic, spontaneous and creative. Somewhere along the lines we lose it. We began to solve problems in ways that people before us solved them. Our education tends in this direction. Typically, we think on the basis of similar problems encountered in the past. When we are confronted with a challenge we tend to think how did I solve this last time? Then we go in a fixed line to solve it without considering new ways we may solve this problem. Once we think we know how to solve a challenge we tend to stick to trying to solve each challenge in this way until proven wrong. Now creative people don't go about solving challenges this way they look for all the ways one might solve a challenge not throwing out any of them until they know they don't work.

Try this pretend you are a five year old looking at this challenge how would you see it?

What If you were from another country how would you see this challenge?

What if you were from another planet how would you see this challenge?

Go out for a walk go into stores that you would never visit try and have an open mind and start trying to associate look for new ways of looking at things sometimes we find answers in unfamiliar territory

Do some doodling and associate between objects, ideas, events, people, or processes that you have never thought of in that way before.

Write out different aspects of the situation make the familiar strange and the strange familiar.

Try and ask questions of the situation to clarify it. Great questions can solve the mystery.

Now it is time to narrow down the possibilities.

Try ordering possibilities by ranking them against a pre-established criteria.

Once likely possibilities have been found they can be expanded into better ideas.

Find the weak spots in the ideas ways that they could possibly fail.

Take action, ideas are only ideas until they are put into action.

How To Turn Little Problems Into Massive Opportunities And Profits

By Ian Canaway

In order to make big money online and create killer products which will be lapped up by potential customers you need to realize that it's not just your passions, hobbies, and interests you should be taking note of. Also take a closer look at your biggest problems and challenges.

You see, life has an interesting way of trying to put us onto the right path...if we would only stop and pay attention. Often times, the major problems and challenges in our lives arise only to direct us, to nudge us towards the right path, the path that we're supposed to be traveling on. Yet many of us get so wrapped up in the problem itself that we're constantly fighting and pushing away while never being able to see what it's trying to tell us.

Many of your greatest pains and challenges are simply opportunities in disguise.

Some of our greatest inventions came out of problems and challenges the inventors were having in their lives. They decided to focus on the solution instead of giving all their energy and thought to the problem.

During the great depression, while most people were suffering and going through tough times, others found ways to "solve problems" and then helped others cope with those problems. They became very rich in the process.

You can do the same today.

Start looking for the answers and solutions to those major problems/challenges in your life. If no one else has yet provided an effective solution to the problem, you may just be the person to do it.

Problems are everywhere you look, on every corner you turn. Just look around you. People are miserable, they're irritable, they're mad!

Often times, one of the problems you're having in your life is also something that many others are having as well. Find the solution to it and become the expert that everyone else will look to for answers.

The best way to become rich is to create value in others' lives. Start with your own problems and find ways to make others' lives easier.

Open their eyes to what's really going on around them, offer solutions to their problems. In return, they will reward you with money!
