A Possible ALS – Lou Gehrig's Disease – Breakthrough

By George J. McClelland

A Possible ALS – Lou Gehrig's Disease – Breakthrough by George J. McClelland

An ALS patient was sent home from the hospital to die. She was completely paralyzed, on a lung machine and fed through a tube. In desperation, the family approached a doctor friend. This doctor had the family feed her the ingredients of a newly developed nutritional product along with some high quality mega vitamins and minerals. Two weeks later she no longer needed the lung machine. In a few months she had gained enough strength and mobility to go to the bathroom and otherwise move around with assistance. She is now eating the equivalent of one meal a day and continuing to improve.

Your first reaction is that this story is not possible. That is what every doctor and medical journal will tell you. That is what your local ALS support groups will tell you because till now no one with ALS has ever seen this kind of improvement. But I am here to tell you the story is true. The lady is very much alive and her family is ecstatic.

Can this story be repeated with other ALS patients? We are convinced this event is a breakthrough that can benefit most, if not all, people who suffer from ALS, but we won't know till other people with ALS use our secret products and experience the same improvement. One thing is sure; they have nothing to lose and might regain a life worth living.

The same doctor has used these products on people with Multiple Sclerosis with similar successes. It could prove to be a product that can add years of healthy living in the lives of people.

Curing Lou Gehrig's Disease

By Gerald Armstrong

ALS is the disease that took the life of the famed baseball player. The disease benched Lou Gehrig from the game that he loved and later took his life. Now, ALS is referred to as the Lou Gehrig's disease. Today more than fifty years later there still is no cure for ALS. ALS is a motor neuron disease. ALS stands for Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis. The disease attacks nerve cells in the brain and spinal cord. It attacks a person's muscles one at a time. Not unlike being tortured. Sadly there is no cure and no viable treatment.

I am Gerald Armstrong, the owner of Gen Cells Cures. Our goal is to stamp out disease and aging. We do private research for the individual. I have been contacted by a lady to try to look for a cure for this deadly killer for her suffering and dying husband. Nothing would give me more satisfaction and pleasure. Unfortunately, I lost most of my biotech's start-up money in an offshore bank scandal and devaluation of currency.

Of all the diseases that mankind is facing I believe ALS is one of the most cruel. I also believe it can be one of the first to be cured with stem cells...The cure could come simply by adding stem cells to grow new brain or nerve cells. We can do this by adding embryonic or adult stem cells to the brain. Which ever works best...The only thing we are lacking are my 16 hand picked scientists to do the research and ultimately to find the cure. I am not looking for one penny for me. I challenge any one out there with the ways and means to help pay the scientists salaries and the lab expenses and we'll show you a cure for Lou Gehrig's Disease.
