What are the major misconceptions by ignorant atheists [Less than 4% of the world population (www.adherents.com)]? The `fact' that we are primarily body, and spirituality comes second is the first and most important mistake of all with the biggest consequence of falsehood. When they talk about Jesus'(and His so-called Church's) violence against the human body, they misconstrue that human life is `sacred'. Wrong, people. Our spiritual life is sacred, and human (3-dimensional) life is temporary. We will all inevitably return to the spiritual realm, whether you like it or not. You may go through `hell' on earth already, for love and happiness are ONLY possible with and through Jesus, and that is still the law.

But, you don't have to, for our Creator has sent Him to us as His first-born, for our support and guidance. Jesus was here to present a wake-up call: "Hey, y'all, forget the ten commandments; they did not work. You are (wo)men, you remain sinners, period.

"Watch me! First, I am going into the desert and not eat for 40 days, so that I can be extremely exhausted and challenged by temptation. What am I showing you and my heavenly father? That my body means squat, and I am here to demonstrate a higher cause.

"When I perform a wonder next, such as making a blind man see, I really mean to get humanity to understand that there is a `third' eye for the spiritual realm and understanding. I am frustrated that my ministry is limited to the physical stuff, and have to go away by myself to pray, many times.

"Finally I am going to die a bloody death on the cross, because I once and for all want to take your attention away(!) from `SIN' by `taking it upon myself', and let you watch my ascension back to the spiritual realm later.

"I proclaimed my NEW covenant of LOVE & HOPE. But, did you guys get it? NO! To most, it meant, yeah, right, they tell us that this dude went up. But I ain't believing that. Or, maybe it was possible for Him, due to His connections, but I'm not made from the same stuff.

Watchitna – Ignorance is the ONLY `sin' in our days, for people are still stuck in medieval information. There was not much we could do, when the scripts existed in Hebrew, Greek and Latin and their meaning had to be interpreted by the spiritually blind, who prostituted the free gifts that our Creator handed to them and made their Religion filthy rich (Catholicism). The dogma began with the Pharisees, who rehearsed the scripts daily and invented man-made laws, instead of believing in Jesus, and our heavenly father.

They built churches from man-made stone, which they care for and adore more than the belief in Jesus and our Creator, called idolatry. Jesus' church is not a building. It consists of those who follow His lead, walk in the light as in `get His message', and when they meet, He is there with them.

Now would be the time to read up for yourself, and establish an individual relationship with our Maker. Remember, there `are no atheists in a turbulent airplane'.

We all know that there were 10 commandments. However, their validity stopped, when our Creator sent the Holy Ghost at Pentecost to signalize - "Hello, there is something different about you. You are primarily made of spirit, and your beautiful idolized body is only secondary. Don't take it so seriously, for the reason you have your body (temple) is for your SPIRIT to live in it."

Are you one of the people that stopped reading before high school? Well, here is the news. If you don't like your job and would rather look into your own successful business venture, the good book even has wisdom and principles for you that can make you eternally successful, while you enjoy your life. Sounds good? Become a free thinker of the type that walks in Jesus' light. He'll keep you well. Just ask our Creator to `baptize you with the Holy Spirit'. You'll like it, for it makes 1,000 times more ecstasy and bliss possible than will all the sex, drugs and alcohol in this world.

let me tell you something

1. God does not exist.
2. Allah does not exist.
3. Jesus does not exist.
4. Shiva does not exist.

almost 90% of the people reading this blog would not mind my first sentence, just dismissing me as an atheist,

However, #2 for Muslims, #3 for Christians, # 4 for Hindus would definitely anger these respective people, and i'm sure they would fight me tooth and nail to prove their point. Well I'm not here to debate the existence of god, just the existence of our ignorance.

Why aren't we as much angered when somebody talks about just "God" , than when somebody talks about my God. It seems that these people do accept then that there is a God, and there is my God. It also proves that 'my God' is not the real God , atleast for me because I'm not angered or incensed or even bothered when somebody says that "God does not exist".

And while I'm bothered when somebody drags "My God" into a controversy, i am a little worried for the plain "God" who doesn't have any takers.

It also reveals that we want to ascribe to our religious beliefs in a way more than the religion itself dictates. I do feel that most of the time the culprit is not "God" who by the way was never clear about his real identity and thus created the plethora of confusion among us, but rather our very own religious egos.
