Let others know that you are a serious contender! Let your business checks represent the core of your company. Show them your competitive advantage when they receive your business check.

With your own check printing software, you can remove the wait you might otherwise have by relying on a third party. You can do the job yourself and save your company money by just a little initial investment. Over the years, think of how using your own resources can affect your bottom line. The savings will definitely be worth the initial investment. More importantly, it puts you in control. If the control is not what you are after, try developing a relationship with a check printing company. There are numerous check printing companies on the national or local level.

Another way to increase your company's awareness is by personalizing your envelopes with you own return address labels. You can avoid the cost of having your envelopes professionally printed, but still leave the recipient with the lasting impression of your company's logo or tag line.

Robb Ksiazek is a successful author and publisher for <http://www.checks-4u.com>. He has researched and written hundreds of articles and can simplify your online search by recommending merchants for the best value and selections in business or personal checks, address labels, rubber stamps and envelopes.

Personal Checks and Saving Money

Personal Checks and Saving Money by Fred Gull

When you write a personal check you're essentially an order instructing your bank to pay a particular merchant a specified sum of money, using funds in your account at that bank. To collect the money, the merchant probably will deposit the check. It'll take about one to five business days before the money is transferred out of your account. However, there are new ways for merchants and other vendors to process personal checks electronically and reduce the time it takes for the funds to be deducted from your account.

Personal checks are familiar and easy to use or mail. They also are routinely accepted by merchants as well as by utilities, landlords, mortgage lenders, credit card companies, and other major service providers, although sometimes with limits. As with cash, checks also are widely accepted by other individuals.

Paying by check can be a good way to avoid overextending your family finances and to build a good payment history. Checks also are good for people who just aren't comfortable with newer forms of electronic payment, such as debit cards.

Checks also create a paper trail that can be followed if there's a dispute over who got paid or how much. If your bank doesn't routinely return canceled checks but you need some for your records, you have a couple of options, according to Cynthia Bonnette, a bank examination specialist with the FDIC in Washington. "You can make a special request for copies of checks, possibly for a fee," she says. "Or, if you bank at home by personal computer, your checks' images may be offered as part of that service."
