Genesis 1:29 and 30

And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat.

And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every living thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat; and it was so.

John Eddie"JJ"Jones SVP PacificRimDGroup sharing about his family.

My late Mother Mrs. Louella Tidwell Jones lived another 33 years from 1967 until June 29, 2000 after her diagnosis with Type 2 Diabetes, without ever having to take a shot of insulin or take any other type of medication.

My Dad's Grandmother Mrs. Mattie Hearn Jones, a full-blooded Chickasaw Indian, told my mother of an Indian remedy for the "Sugar" as she called it. Simply brew some "Cherry" leaf, bark or limb tea and drink it instead of or in addition to drinking Lipton Teas. The Cherry fruit is very sweet, but the brew from the "Cherry" leaf, bark or limb is very bitter. Drink it hot and as the tea circulates through your blood stream, the opposites of sweet and bitter attracts and empties out of your body as a bodily waste fluid.

My eighty-five year old God-Mother is recovering from a high blood pressure induced stroke in 1996. From drinking her "Cherry" tea each day, her blood sugar level maintains within 90-140, and the swelling in her ankles is totally gone relieving the fear of possible feet amputations. After a total blood work-up, her doctor has reduced her insulin intake to as needed, instead of automatically twice daily.

Anyway, my Mother's home in Memphis, Tennessee had 3 Cherry trees on the property, so we never threw away any of the leaves. We simply bagged them and saved them until she brewed them into Cherry Tea. But today, there is a Gourmet Cherry Tea from Lindsay Gardens Fine Teas, located at 297-101 Kinderkamack Road #178, Oradell, New Jersey 07649.

Hot Trends In Perfume: Green Tea Fragrances

By Cathy Peterson

For the past few years, there has been a lot of buzz about green tea. Merchants promote all kinds of green tea products, from the logical drinks to skin care products and other items. Green tea is full of antioxidants, believed to help prevent cancer and slow aging, and has also been shown to help lower cholesterol and get rid of headaches. Now the green tea trend has hit the fragrance world as well, answering consumer demand for products that are fresh, clean, and natural. If this is a trend you've embraced also, here are a few green tea fragrances you might want to try.

Bvlgari's Green Tea Fragrance is a unisex, but flowery scent that has been around for almost ten years. With a distinctly Asian character, it combines the scent of green tea with jasmine, citrus, and rose. It also has spicier undertones of pepper, coriander, and cardamom. It is available in lotion, cologne, eau de parfum, shower gel, shampoo, conditioner, and deodorant.

Released in 1999, Green Tea by Elizabeth Arden is a flowery scent also, and blends the scent of green tea with lemon, rhubarb, and peppermint. Though it is recommended as a day fragrance, it also has more rounded tones of oakmoss, musk, and amber. It comes in eau de parfum spray and several different body treatments. There is a leg and foot cream, a cooling body gel, and thicker lotions. It is also available in hygiene products like shampoo, conditioner, shower gel, and deodorant.

TerraNova Sakura and Green Tea, as its name suggests, is a combination of green tea and the Japanese sakura cherry blossom. Its fresh, invigorating scent is good for spring, the same time the cherry blossoms bloom. If you're looking for an aromatherapy experience, try out their bath salts, which infuse the fragrance in a soothing mix with rice bran, cherry bark, and ho wood. In addition to a cologne mist, it also comes in body lotion, a thicker hand cream, massage oil, and body wash.

Demeter has a Green Tea fragrance that it recommends not only for personal use, but also for spraying on bedding and other fabrics around the house for a fresh, clean scent. Demeter specializes in unique scent sprays for the home and body, and their repertoire includes a new Play-Doh scent (to celebrate the toy's 50th anniversary), as well as watermelon, pumpkin pie, and chocolate chip cookie.
