

This Free E-Book is brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!

Choosing The Right Hotel For Your Disney Vacation

By Rosalie Carson

So you decided to visit Walt Disney World this year? Now the fun begins as you plan everything you wish to see and do. As you plan all the details of your trip, you will first need to decide where you would like to stay in Orlando. If you research all the available hotels in the Orlando area you will be overwhelmed with the number of choices you will have.

With thousands of hotel rooms in the area, from on-site Disney hotels to off-site large and small hotel chains, you really have quite a few decisions to make before you choose one. In order to determine what will work best for you, you should consider both your budget and the needs of your traveling party.

The number of people in your party and their ages and needs should guide you to where you should stay when visiting Walt Disney World. Usually, large parties benefit from suite type hotels or even renting a home during the stay, as most hotel rooms are geared for a total of 4 persons (2 adults and 2 children). Travelers with small children like to stay close to the theme parks and enjoy the ability to commute back and forth from the parks to the hotel with ease. The ages of your travelers should also be considered, as some of the family-budget type hotels may not be enjoyed by seniors or honeymooners.

Disney on site hotels do offer several choices in the area of pricing and features. Staying on site at Disney does include a few benefits that you cannot get off site. They include "extra park hours", which allow hotel guests to visit parks one hour before their scheduled opening times and up to three hours after closing times. This feature applies to one park per day and rotates each day of the week. On site hotels also offer Disney's Magical Express service, which provides transportation to and from the Orlando airport, including the ability to bypass baggage claim, as Disney picks up your luggage for you.

Staying on site also includes guaranteed park admissions, even when the parks are filled to capacity. This only helps when traveling during real peak times of year.

Off site hotels are plentiful in the Orlando area. Some hotels are within one mile from Disney property and are very convenient to the parks. Usually an off site hotel will offer more for the money, compared to a Disney value or moderate type hotel. All of the major chain hotels (Embassy Suites, Holiday Inn, and Sheraton) can be found in the Orlando area. When booking a room outside of Disney, it makes sense to get referrals from family or friends who have stayed in those hotels. Otherwise, stick to a major hotel chain and check out the hotel online for reviews.

Choosing The Right Hotel For Your Disney Vacation

Deciding where to stay during your vacation is an important decision to make. If you want the complete Disney experience, or feel you need the ability to travel back and forth to the theme parks in the easiest manner you may want to choose an on site hotel. If you are planning to rent a car, are going to travel to other parks (Sea World, Universal), or are on a budget and want the best value for your dollars, look into an off site hotel deal.

Wherever you decide to stay you can be assured that Orlando offers great entertainment for travelers and continue to rank as a top travel destination.

© Copyright MouseAdvisor.com, All Rights Reserved.

To get more time and money saving tips about

<http://mouseadvisor.com/magic-kingdom/resorts/>

visit

Rosalie Carson's website

<http://MouseAdvisor.com>

, where she writes about a variety of Disney related topics.

How To Save Big Money When Traveling To Disney World

By Tom McKnight

Traveling to Disney World or Universal on a vacation with your family this year? Instead of staying in a hotel maybe you should consider renting a vacation house or condo. You could pay hundreds less, have your own private pool and not have to eat every meal out at a restaurant.

The Internet has made finding these rentals easy. Classified websites such as Craig's List, Google Base, Oodle and Expo Live and sites dedicated exclusively to vacation rentals such as VRBO.com and GreatRentals.com list thousands of rentals by individual property owners in the Orlando area. Daily rates on three and four bedroom homes can sometimes be significantly less than the cost of an average hotel room.

Choosing The Right Hotel For Your Disney Vacation

You can either use a rental agency or rent from the actual property owner. You'll find that you will get the best deal by going through the property owner to rent your vacation rental. Many property owners run their own websites in addition to listing their properties with rental agencies and are open to negotiation if the time you're looking to rent is near.

Most of these rentals are within a short drive to Disney World and Universal. You can also find many of these rentals within in some of Orlando's best resorts. These resorts can have shuttle services, golf courses, tennis, health clubs, child care and many other amenities you'd expect to find at a fine hotel.

Renting a vacation home in Orlando instead of staying in a hotel is an ideal way to save money when traveling to Disney World. Not only will you save money, you will have more space and privacy, not be obligated to tidy up for room service and have your own private pool or Jacuzzi to return to after a long hot day walking around the parks.

Tom McKnight is a freelance author who writes travel articles for

<http://www.vacationrentals-orlando.net>

This Free E-Book has been brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!