

Custer and Keogh (Lincoln's Assassination too)

This Free E-Book is brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!

Custer and Keogh (Lincoln's Assassination too)

By Robert Bruce Baird

Custer and Keogh (Lincoln's Assassination too) by Robert Bruce Baird

General George Armstrong

Custer

And

Colonel Myles

Keogh

By Robert Bruce Baird

INSPIRATIONAL COMMENTS:

Tacitus the historian said: "So obscure are the greatest events; as some take for granted any hearsay whatever its source, others turn truth into falsehood and both errors are encouraged with posterity."

"That spiritual power I wear is much more beautiful and much greater. We call it wisdom, knowledge, power and gift or love. There are these four parts to that spiritual power. So I wear those. When you wear that power it will beautify your mind and spirit. You become beautiful. Everything that Tunkashila creates is beautiful." --Wallace Black Elk, LAKOTA

"The law in its majestic equality forbids the rich as well as the poor to sleep under bridges, to beg in the streets and to steal bread." - Anatole France.

In the words of Samuel Johnson, "Patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel."

"Forty Years ago I fought Custer till all were dead. I was then the enemy of the Whitemen. Now I am the friend and brother, living in peace together under the flag of our country." -- Two Moons, Northern Cheyenne

"Anyone who is willing to live the life I have led can do the things I do." --Fools Crow

INTRODUCTION:

Why were the Indians armed better than the men under the command of someone who had Presidential aspirations?

After watching a Learning Channel show that proved that point through forensic and archaeological analysis a lot of questions came to my mind in the summer of 2004. I am related to Colonel Myles Keogh and our family history will be a starting point for many considerations not commonly heard or seen about Custer and Keogh. I might even wonder out loud about the assassination of Lincoln and other corruption and intrigues including the founding of the Ku Klux Klan by a rogue Masonic devil worship cult. In fact you will not believe the truth you might see on these pages if you are a person who believes the stuff you read in school or hear on the news most every night. Fox News Corporation's owner says none of his employees can say anything he doesn't agree with - should we spell it Faux News? I am not the first person to wonder if Custer was in hot water due to his support of the Indians and his exposure of the cronies who put Grant in office. Here is a little part of a review of a semi-fictional book on Custer which suggests exactly what I am trying to understand and which I hope the readers will see is all too commonplace in our society.

"How could this colorful historical figure have allowed the events that brought his untimely end? Was it only political intrigue? We know President Grant {Meaning or including Martinists that became Skull & Bonesmen and Tammany Hall.} had an unbridled animosity toward Custer because he helped expose the Grant administration's callous indifference to the plight of the Plains Indians." (1)

Keogh was a made man in the inner sanctum of power. His importance to General Buford during the Civil War followed on the heels of his Papal commendation after having fought alongside his fellow Irishmen, who he led in Italian wars with the Vatican Army. His grave-tending paramour is none other than the New York Governor's daughter in a time when Tammany Hall ruled all aspects of politics in America. You will see that a Martin name appears on the marriage certificate of my paternal grandparents. You might think it is a romantic tale as you hear about how she tended his grave until the day she died in Auburn, New York. You might wonder whose daughter it was that she cared for and came to the wedding in Toronto to give away. I cannot say for sure that the child was her grandchild as I start researching this matter in greater detail.

It is possible that she cared for a part Mandan Indian girl that Myles fathered in the many trips he and Custer took among the Indians. It is almost certain that he would have been sexually active because he was known to enjoy the ladies. The child would then have had a child and this Ms. Della Martin would possibly have cared for the child if the parent died or if she was its grandmother. It is also possible that it was the offspring of Keogh's brother's children but that does not seem likely due to the grave-tending and other things I discovered. You will have to endure a lot of my explorations and make many of your own if we are to learn all we can about the man and the intrigues that have spawned thousands of books. "Myles probably returned to Ireland in the summer of 1874, as his Aunt Mary had died leaving him Clifden in her will. It is accepted amongst his family in Ireland that he became engaged to Nelly Martin around this time, but no positive proof exists at the moment." (2)

Custer and Keogh (Lincoln's Assassination too)

The Indians had a world of respect for these men who were learning just how corrupt the government handling of them had been. The Mandans are white blooded people from before Columbus and the Sioux have the unique Haplogroup X marker of the Kelts or white Caucasians which modern genetics proves goes back into the earliest times of white people on earth, some 30,000 years ago. Lincoln is probably a Melungeon and they are people who escaped Empire before Columbus's invasion of paradise as well. Lincoln had a potential Vice Presidential running mate named Ignatius Donnelly who knew a lot about these things as he wrote the best-selling book on Atlantis in his era. There are many undercurrents I could go into great detail about in reference to Lincoln and the whole American Experiment.

It is my perception that Keogh gave his Papal medals to Sitting Bull and not the crap other historians say about Keogh's body being saved from mistreatment (and his horse being the only survivor) because of the protection of some Christian Pope's medals. "Captain Edward Luce does not think that this medal was found on Keogh's body, but Lt. Godfrey – who was present – told artist E. S. Paxson in 1896 that it had not been removed. Trumpeter Martini, the last man to get out, insisted Benteen took the medal. Certain historians provide Keogh with two medals: one around his neck, another in his pocket. This is conceivable because the Pope awarded him, as a mark of special favour, the Cross of the Order of St. Gregory. Whatever the exact truth most scholars agree that he had the Pope's medal, and that it kept his corpse from being abused. But this sounds illogical, as most Catholics in this army would not have been wearing religious emblems."(3) But in the process of researching this book I found Martinist intrigues that may have included both Sitting Bull and Keogh (if not Custer) which will upset a lot of people. The assassination of Lincoln is part of this and it leads to other books I now must do.

Another side of our family is named King. Rufus King was a signatory of one of the Declarations of Independence and the first man to publicly free his black slaves in New York. He also ran for President and was part of the Masonic cult that is under the Rosicrucian Council of Three that Lincoln was a member of. They are not the apex of the real elites who run the world but they are secret and powerful enough to be sure. I wonder if Clarence King is related to that branch of the family that includes my father's `Uncle Jim' who lived to over a hundred years old and used to regale him with stories about the wild west and how he was a road gang boss on the cross continental railroads.

And then there are the Boston Bairds including Martha Baird Rockefeller who was the mother of Nelson Alldrich Rockefeller. My father lived there briefly before he went to war. He thought we were related to her too. Margaret Keogh was born in 1890 in Portland Maine and unfortunately the 1890 Census in this region was lost in a fire so my brother John seeking to help get citizenship status for our younger brother Gord ran into a lot of missing pieces when they did a detailed search in Quincy, Massachusetts and Portland, Maine.

Nelson Alldrich is the main `front man' who brought world economic domination to us through the FED and later deals including the end of The Bretton Woods Agreement. These Boston Brahmins or Beacon Hill Mob are part of many other books I have written. I have met some of their recent `front men' and learned a lot from them about the nature of the real world and government. I think the Adams family and others like the Bairds were in the Americas long before Columbus and even before the Stuart Royals like Prince Henry Sinclair. There is a growing awareness of just how badly our forefathers have treated many people throughout this world. Patti Smith is on the warpath and this review serves to give a little of her passion which I share.

"Gung Ho a throwback to rock records

By DAVE VEITCH

Calgary Sun

GUNG HO

Patti Smith

(Arista)

At a time when every day brings yet another teen nymphette whose messages to world are (a) hit me/rub me, baby, and (b) I haven't had a boob job, the arrival of a new album by 50-year-old punk godmother Patti Smith is like a cool glass of water to a parched soul. Gung Ho is a throwback to rock records that gave voice to political, social and moral ideas in hopes of changing the world one mindset at a time. Unlikely, yes, but you've got to admire the passion, intellect and conviction that Smith and her longtime band bring to the material. One moment she's singing about spiritual transcendence in the hypnotic Lo and Beholden; the next she's rallying against capitalism—gone—rampant on the angular rocker Glitter in Their Eyes (featuring Tom Verlaine on guitar and Michael Stipe on vocals). She involves historical figures, too, writing about the life and philosophies of Ho Chi Minh in the droning 12-minute title track and singing from the point of view of George Custer's wife (the lovely, country-tinged Libby's Song) and an African slave determined to hold onto her pride (Strange Messengers). At times her words turn didactic and her rage starts sounding like haranguing. But on those occasions, the music — taut, sinewy, uncompromised — carries you through."

Some of my sources will be those who are tarred with the brush of 'conspiracy theorist' like myself. I suppose I am a 'conspiracy theorist' in the genre of Teilhard de Chardin who called for a 'Conspiracy of Love'. I will attempt to be fair and raise questions as much as provide answers. There are no black and white answers and a good question takes more knowledge than a pat answer, I have generally found. You might have to do a lot of other reading and research therefore; but remember what FDR said - "If it happened, it was planned".

And the plan for an American Civil War and the expansion of Manifest Destiny and eugenics or 'social engineering' is what the Rothschild's or other Benjaminites who backed various players on both sides is what much of history is all about - I hope you will see this, at least in part, as this book proceeds. One book alone and even the thirty I have written that cover different aspects of this are not yet enough to tell much more than a framework of what is going on to this day. When I started doing the intensive research into this I did not know what I would find in reference to the financial powers and their association with people near to Custer. I was willing to simply examine some legends of our family. However, the family legends are not as much the matter of this book at this juncture. There are many things unanswered still, but I think I have found enough to warrant making a sincere and pleading call to re-open the issue of Custer and why he was basically murdered by people who feared what he was saying due to his popularity and his realistic chances of becoming President of the United States at some point. I can say my father was right about Reno and the cover-up but I cannot say Reno acted alone or who instructed him to make sure the Custer clan was eliminated. I see a lot of similarities with the assassination of Lincoln and JFK and I think the most powerful nation in the world should have some serious house-cleaning.

World-Mysteries.com Author of Diverse Druids Columnist in Enchanted Spirit Press E-zine

Spooky House Producer Finds Real Spooks in King Assassination

By Anonymous

Spooky House Producer Finds Real Spooks in King Assassination by Anonymous

Producer-Director-Writer William Sachs of Spooky House fame has written a screenplay based on the Gary Revel investigation of the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr. William Sachs is in negotiations with Gary concerning details of the conspiracy that will end up in the final draft of the screenplay and some details that may not. Gary Revel believes he knows more about the matter than any other living human being and is using that knowledge to advise Sachs on just how much and just how the assassination should be portrayed in the screenplay. Some details; Gary says, "Must be withheld until the actual day of filming of the event."

In company with Oscar Award winning actors, world famous celebrities and this high profile and controversial project, Sachs is constrained not to tell this reporter very much except, "I have written a screenplay of Gary's story and am interested in seeing it come to the screen."

If you google Gary Revel you find numerous websites related to his work on the investigation. You also find his poetry, art and an autobiography titled, "To Live or Maybe Not". One reviewer of the book suggested it needed a rewrite with more details. Apparently that's the trick, getting Gary to provide the details. This writer isn't sure but it may be that we won't get the details until we go see the movie.

None

This Free E-Book has been brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!