Developing your prosperity Instinct

Developing your prosperity Instinct by Janet Ilacqua

Another way of thinking of prosperity is that prosperity is the result of tapping into energy or chi in the world. Energy is dynamic, not static. It will always be moving and you must follow it wherever it goes. It will not follow you and you cannot make it go where it does not want to go. Sometimes, it is all around you and all it is a matter of being aware of it. In term of the seed planting metaphor, think of chi as the nutrients and minerals in the soil that will nourish the seeds you plant. The better your soil is, the less work and investment you will have to put into it in order to make it produce beautiful flowers. You cannot learn prosperity from a book, film or a presentation. Eventually, you must see, feel, hear, touch, and see prosperity. The more clearly we can visualize prosperity, the more clearly we can feel, see, hear, and touch it, the better chance we have of realizing our dream of prosperity.

Many tools out there can make you aware of the flow of energy. Just remember that prosperity resides not in the tool but rather in how the tool makes you aware of the flow of energy in the world.

We will discuss three widely used prosperity tools:

§Feng Shui

§Pagan and Wicca Traditions of the West

§Affirmations and Visualizations

Feng Shui

Feng Shui examines how the energy flow in your living environment is affected by the placement of things and objects within it, and how these objects interact with and influence your personal energy flow. Your personal energy flow affects how you think and act, which in turn, affects how well you perform and succeed in your personal and professional life. We cannot fully discuss Feng Shui in this chapter; however, there are several books on Feng Shui out on the shelves today.

Feng Shui is a term composed of two Chinese words: feng (wind) and shui (water). Wind and water are the two natural elements that flow, move and circulate everywhere on Earth. They are also the most basic elements required for human survival. Wind —or air— is the breath; without it, we die in moments. In addition, water is the liquid of life; without it, we die in days.

These two fundamental and flowing elements have always profoundly, yet subtly, influenced human individuals and societies. The essence of these life-giving life elements is chi or life force. Wind and water are direct carriers of chi, as their flowing quality reflects their essential nature. All living organisms are largely composed of these two elements.

Thus, Feng Shui is the art of designing environments in harmony with the flow of chi through one's living space, and this flow supports and enhances one's personal chi or life force.

The Feng Shui Octagon

The Feng Shui Octagon is an energetic map that applies the wisdom of the I-Ching to human spaces. Using the Octagon, you can divide any definable space into nine sections or areas. The colours associated with the Wealth Area of the Octagon are green, red, and blue and hips. Keep in mind that, in addition to the Wealth Area, your front entrance and your kitchen stove also strongly affects your money chi. In addition to making sure that there is a lot of energy flowing into your house, you should situate a healthy new plant in the Wealth Area of your house and hang a wind chime in the Wealth area of your bedroom.

Pagan and Wicca Traditions of the West

The Celts, Greeks, and Romans all believed that prosperity was dependent upon the will of the gods. Various deities were invoked specifically for prosperity, fertility and good crops.: in the Celtic tradition, Rosemont, the cornucopia deity of harvest and a patroness of merchants of harvest, in Greece, Copier and Ops, and, in Rome, Juno Montana, the Roman mother goddess of travellers and commerce.

After the advent of Christianity, many of the ancient Celtic and other pagan beliefs, including the invoking of deities, was transmuted into the casting of spells in the Wicca beliefs. Green candles are often burned for prosperity. In modern times, Wicca beliefs have also absorbed other influences, such as Eastern reincarnation beliefs and New Age thinking.

Affirmations and Visualizations

The New Age movements in the West have adapted many of the same tools used by the Eastern and Wicca tradition that we have discussed: crystals, Tarot cards, meditation techniques, astrology, etc. However, they have developed two powerful motivational tools of their own: affirmations and visualizations.

Affirmations are positive statements. Simply repeat them to yourself as you go about your daily routine. You do not even have to consciously "listen," just play it in the background. Your subconscious mind hears and retains the spoken affirmations and thus begins creating a more prosperous mindset. Your mind will especially pick out the personal issues and focus on them. Examples are:

- There is limitless supply of [fill in what you want] and it is mine
- I release my need for financial insecurity
- I am financially secure
- I am surrounded by loving, giving people

- I release my need to feel needy
- I have everything I want or need
- I release my fear of wealth and wellness
- I am healthy and wealthy
- I allow myself to prosper
- I trust that I will create abundance
- I have more than I need in every area of my life
- I open myself to receive the abundance of The Universe
- I release my need for debt
- I am solvent
- I am safe and secure
- I enjoy a steady flow of positive energy
- I am loved, accepted, acknowledged and appreciated

Active, creative visualization is focused daydreaming. You create in your mind's eye a vision, a thought, and that thought has energy. As with dreams, your mind seems to work best with pictures. As such, visualizations, coupled with affirmations, are powerful tools of prosperity creation.

Reminding Yourself of Prosperity

By Stephanie Yeh

Have you ever heard the phrase, "Thoughts are things and words have wings?" This phrase is the perfect expression of the principle of prosperity. How you think about and talk about your level of prosperity is what actually manifests in your life. How many times a week do you wistfully say to your companion, "Oh, I'd love take a break and go to Mexico, but it's too expensive and I'll never be able to afford it"? Or how many times do you sigh enviously when you see someone else who has what you want?

Well, guess what? Every time you indulge in that kind of envious or hopeless thinking, you're sealing your own fate! According to ancient teachings on prosperity, everything that we say, think or feel is recorded in the akashic records, and then manifested into our lives. If you think about your level of prosperity as a barometer, every time you feel hopeless or depressed about your lack of prosperity, you slide down the scale a notch toward poverty. On the other hand, every time you say, "Well, I'm not there yet, but I will be able to go to Mexico soon," you zip up the scale toward prosperity.

We always think that our level of prosperity depends on outer circumstances such as a promotion, winning the lottery, getting a better job, or some other stroke of luck. Wrong! Our personal level of prosperity always, always starts inside, with our thoughts, feelings and words.

Developing your prosperity Instinct

Old habits, especially old habits of poverty, can be really hard to break, so here's a quick way to remind yourself to be mindful. Each day, do something different to create a "prosperity reminder" for yourself. For instance, if you normally wear a ring on your middle finger, wear it on your index finger. The foreign sensation of the ring on a different finger will catch your attention and remind you that you're supposed to be conscious of something. When you notice the ring, notice where your thoughts are. Are you depressed about your boring job or are you looking forward to something prosperous in your life, no matter how far away it may seem? You can also put a small stone in your pocket, put a rubberband around your wrist or wear a silver chain under your shirt. It doesn't matter how you do it, as long as you create a noticeable "prosperity reminder" for yourself. We recommend you practice this exercise for at least 40 days to really set that prosperity framework firmly in your life. Have fun!
