

This Free E-Book is brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!

Different Kinds Of Cat Collars

By Mike Barus

Although collars are generally thought to be for the canine kind, many cat owners choose to purchase collars for their favorite felines. There are many different kinds of cat collars on the market, so it is imperative that you choose the best option for your cat's needs and body. Consider taking your cat along on a shopping trip to your local pet store—most welcome animals of all types—and try on different models to find the perfect fit. Keep in mind that although color, material, and style is important, these aspects should come second to the fit of the collar.

Traditionally, cats wear collars that hold their identification information and a bell. Ensuring your pet is properly identified is critical for any animal, especially one that you intend on letting outside. In case your cat becomes lost, you will have a much better chance of finding your lost loved one if he or she has the appropriate information securely attached to the collar. Most cat owners choose to attach a small bell or another type of noise making device in order to make small animals or birds aware of a predator's presence. Cats tend to have retained more hunting instincts than domesticated dogs, so this is a viable concern with many cat owners tired of finding their feline bringing home helpless animals.

A buckle collar is the easiest type for a cat to wear, since it can be put on and taken off quickly and easily. Try the collar on your cat to ensure he or she cannot wiggle out of the collar. Just as a loose collar is unacceptable, having a collar fitted too tight can cause discomfort or even pain if your pet feline. For a younger cat that will need a collar that grows with them, consider choosing an adjustable collar to save you from purchasing new ones in the future.

Some owners choose elastic collars that slip on and off over the cat's head. These are great for cats that do not need the extra weight and bulk of a buckle. Keep in mind that any elastic collars should be fitted to your cat to ensure the collar is not too loose or too tight.

For indoor cats, consider choosing collars with breakaway panels or buckles that will immediately free the cat if he or she becomes caught on something inside your house. Similarly, you should choose collars made of materials that can easily be cut in case the animal becomes caught.

Different Kinds Of Cat Collars

If you have an outdoor cat, look into a collar that uses reflective materials. These reflective materials will keep your precious feline safe at night. This is quite important, since animals are more likely to become injured or even killed since they cannot be seen. A reflective collar is also a good idea for indoor cats, since you can see the animal in the dark to avoid stepping on your pet.

Some cats enjoy taking walks in the great outdoors, but owners do not want them to be outdoors unattended. Outdoor cats can easily become lost, stolen, injured, or even killed. To solve this problem, some cat owners choose to walk their cats on a leash just like a dog. Instead of a regular collar, leash walking cats require a harness to prevent spine issues. If you are in the market for harnesses, there are two main types: the figure eight and the H-style. Depending on your individual cat and the fit, these harnesses are excellent for any cat that enjoys a walk in the park!

Once you have determined the specific type of collar for your cat, choose a color that fits his or her personality. Whether your feline wants a rocker look with black leather and metal studs or a pretty princess with pink rhinestones, the options are limitless!

Mike Barus Specializes in Cat Collars

<http://www.i-cat-collars.com>

,

<http://www.cat-collars-i.com>

Designer Cat Collars : Give Style To Your Cat!

By Cloe Collars

Designer cat collars come in all forms from floral, gem-stoned, personalized to even leather. Every cats different and had a personality all their own. Why should they look like all the other ones? Decide what type of personality your cat has or even what you want your cat to have and get her a designer cat collar today.

Dorothy Bauer creates beautiful designer cat collars all by hand, making sure each piece will fit the cat it will belong too. Most of the collars are made from Swarovski Austrian Crystal in a variety of colors making each piece stand out on its own. Imagine your cat walking around in a 3 stranded collar made of crystals. If you can't picture that try a choker with her first initial, simple and elegant. Not only does she design collars for your cat but she provides beautiful charms to be attached to them. The prices range from $25 on up. If you like her creations for your dog you might even like it for yourself, that's right she makes jewelry for the human-kind too.

Hand-sewn designer cat collar with Swarovski pearls and rhinestones will make your cat look like she's going out on a date and it's perfect for Valentine's day. Colors range from pink, black to red with little roses sewn onto the collar, rhinestones wrap around the neckline between the flowers adding to it's romantic look. Personalized designer cat collars are becoming a big hit, get your cat's name in rhinestones so she can proudly wear it around her neck.

Different Kinds Of Cat Collars

Lulu's leather cat collars are sleek and make your cat look smashing. These designer cat collars are one thin, leather strap with a small bell near the clasp. Each collar comes with a few different holes to make the collar fit to perfection and each one is made of high quality material. You'll be able to hear your cat coming with this designer cat collar. Find out which designer cat collar will look good on your feline, you won't be sorry.

Cloe's Collars offer you unique variety of stylish cat and dog collars at

<http://www.cloescollars.com>

This Free E-Book has been brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!