Easy Steps To Save Money At The Gas Pump

By Brenda Cyr

Gas prices are hitting disgustingly high since the hurricanes and war started, and most of us can't afford it. This article will help you decrease your visits to the pump and at the same time help the environment. Three basic approaches that you can take are working with the car you have, buying a different vehicle and using somebody else's vehicle. Here are a few tips:

- Use a sunshade. A cooler car needs less air conditioning. · Park in the shade when it's warm. · Clear your car of junk. Extra weight uses extra gas. · Don't use premium fuels unless your car really requires them.
- Don't top off your tank. The excess is lost anyways. · In winter, you should use a block heater to pre-warm your engine. · Try to avoid rush hour. · Get an update before you leave to avoid sitting in traffic: · Don't pump the gas pedal before starting your car. · Make sure that your parking brake is completely released. · Don't floor it,....ever · Brake slowly wherever possible. · Don't ride the brake.
- Keep your tires properly inflated. Check them every 2 weeks.

When it comes to regular maintenance of your car that can save you a lot of money at the gas pumps too. Following the recommended maintenance schedule for your car will save you money. If you don't have a manual, contact your local car dealer to get one. Let's see these tips now.

- Rotate your tires on a regular basis · Replace worn tires. · Get regular tune-ups. · Get regular oil changes according to your owner's manual. · Check your air and fuel filters as well. · Make sure your gas cap fits tightly. · Keep your transmission fluid at the proper level. · See a mechanic if you see that smoke is coming from your tailpipe. · Keep all fluids topped up · Ensure that your cooling system thermostat is working properly. · Fix your transmission immediately · get emissions tests once a year · make sure that your exhaust system is clean and working properly · keep your muffler up to par

All of the tips mentioned above will really save money. As you can see saving money on gas is not as hard as you may think it is. With the constantly rising price at the pump, it's important to save every drop of gas that you can.

Gas Pump Fever

By Vijay Gibson

Gas Pump Fever by Vijay Gibson

Recalling the gas crisis twenty years ago, a songster has created a song timely for today: Cyril May's release "Gas Pump Fever" goes miles toward cheering us through the high prices and long lines:

"Gas pump fever in the gas pump line

This is gas pump fever time. And it doesn't have a vaccination for your behind It's mighty catching and its pure hell As the pain in your wallet will plainly tell. You got gas pump fever from waiting in the gas pump line"

A down to earth singer, and songwriter, Cyril May and his musical cohort Jack McDonald make a timely statement with "Gas Pump Fever", creating lyrics we sing along to, and Jack's lilting musical arrangements providing the cheerful flavor.

Though they live half a world apart, Jack in Australia and Cyril in Southern California, the music they make together brings all of us closer. So while you're in line, sing along to "Gas Pump Fever" and perhaps it won't feel quite so bad.

"Gas Pump Fever" is only one of the great songs on Cyril May and Jack McDonald's CD "Off The Beaten Track". Listen to samples of their tunes on the web site:
