Facts About Copyrights

Copyright is a widely misunderstood concept. The fact is, everything you've ever written, from your school notes to family bulletins, is yours, and unless you copied it from a copyrighted source, you own the copyright. This simple legal principle is accepted in most free-world countries, but it's almost useless to you in a court of law without some sort of proof.

The simplest way to assert copyright is to print (C) Your Name, Year. You'll notice we use this notification on much of our material. It is not necessary to add the legal warning which we use, however.

You can protect your copyright cheaply, and with a high degree of legal protection, by sealing the item to be copyrighted in a tamper-proof envelope, stamping the envelope over any point where the envelope could be opened, having your postal clerk postmark the stamps over the seal points, and mailing it back to yourself.

Label the envelope for future reference, and if you can, smudge the fresh postmark ink so there's a gray blotch between stamp and envelope. It can be scrutinized in court for tampering, and any half-decent forensic scientist will be able to shoot down any zealous attorney who tries to prove you faked it. You can copyright whole books this way for under $2.00.

You are not strictly required to register your copyright, but it is the best protection, and if you do wish to copyright, write to:

Register of Copyrights. Library of Congress, Washington. DC 20059 (U.S.) or: Supply and Services Canada, Publishing Center, Mail Order Section, Hull QC K1A 0S1 for a copy of the Copyright Act in Canada, and Industrial Design Branch, Bureau of Corporate Affairs, Consumer and Corporate Affairs Canada, Ottawa, ON K1A 0C9 for general inquiries.

It costs money to register a copyright, so unless you really require solid protection, or demand confidentiality, it may not be worth your while.

Public Domain Copyrights Rule#1 Rule#2 by Hannah Pendergraph Of Edwards Marketing

By following the simple Rule#1 And Rule#2. You will be well on your way in make History today!

Follow Rule One Ane Two

Rule #1:What are public domains? Public domains are expired copyrights from 1923 to 1963. 85% of everything right now falls into public domains. Due to the 28 year renewal. To research copyrights go to loc.gov/copyright.com. On homepage, do a search for USA, regular and documented under Author, Title, or ID number to verify if they were renewed. Look for facts, blank forms, US gov't forms, movies, books, audios, manuals, etc...

Rule #2:The second rule is to change, recopy, or write. You only have to do a minimum amount of changes. For example: Changing a Title(ex. use your noodle to make oodles was changed to think and grow rich), (ex.How to win friends and influence people was changed from a weak title)

You could also just add pictures or graphics.

In other words, once you find out it's copyright was not renewed, you can change a minimal amount of it, make it your own, and refile for copyright, and it will be yours. You can turn this into manuals, ebooks, or reports, with minimal changes, and you can own it.

Right now, there is a market wide open for any publication wrote in spanish.

A quick trick to find out what needs to be published go to wordtrack or adword and research to see what topics are needed.

Offline, go to your nearest college, library, or used book store. Research the title and the author loc.gov/copyright.com and make these copyrights your own.

There are no limits at all to public domains, and there are billions of these works out there right now. You can go to addell.com and search terms for 1963 golf books.

Right now, you are a part of history of intellectual properties. Remember to recopy them ethically. The last point that needs to be made is books and movies are remade and sequaled everyday (ex. Terminator 1,2,3). Due to the fact that the best products are ones that sold before and were tested over and over and worked.
