Feng–Shui for Business and Office

Applying Feng–Shui technics to improve your career.

Feng–Shui in your place of business is as important as in your home. The most important determinant is to try to protect your back from either an open door, other desk or a window. Try to place your desk in a commanding position, but not aiming at colleagues because this could create an unconscious feeling of hostility.

The area around your immediate work space should be neat and free from clutter. Especially at floor level it is helpful to group together wires so that they don't create a mass of crossed and conflicting energies.

"Desk clutter" might be near impossible to avoid, but you should try to guard against semipermanent piles of paper. Try to sort through it at least once every few days. Any pile of paper that is consistently ignored will accumulate a negative chi.

If you have an office to yourself, you have the opportunity to work in the northern sector to enhance your career or the south east sector to enhance your wealth. Try to avoid sharp angled desk lights. A curved neck banker's lamp is better. Book cases should be kept neat or be covered by doors to avoid cutting Sha,

The attractiveness of the entrance to the place of business cannot be overstressed. The reception area just inside the door should be welcoming and free of clutter.

Obviously for a business the southeast sector, the wealth sector, is the relevant one. Here the element is wood, and wood is produced by water. A fountain, a fish tank or pond placed in this sector will improve the wealth potential of the business.

If you Don't have much control over office decor there are still effective changes you can make at home.

For career advancement, first analyze the external influences on the northern side of your home. Check all windows facing this direction for visible secret arrows. Any invisible "secret arrows" which are screened off so you cannot see them, have no effect.

If improving your career is your goal, then plan to stimulate the northern sector identified with water. What produces water? Metal. A suitable metal Chi enhancer is a hollow, metal wind chime placed in this sector. Do not over emphasize the earth element in the northern sector by use of crystals or other earth–oriented items. The color of this sector is dark blue or black. Adding a blue light in this sector is helpful. A fish tank directly symbolizing water is also good, but you should choose blue or black fish, avoiding red or gold fish.

Do not place plants in the northern sector at home nor work as they will sap the vitality of water in this sector

Applying these Feng–Shui principles will enhance your career opportunities, prosperity and luck.

What To Expect From A Feng Shui Consultation

By Jakob Jelling

If you are wishing to harmonize or balance your house or any other environment according to feng shui, the ideal way to do so is through a feng shui consultation. A feng shui consultation would provide you the right and proper guidance for you to successfully achieve your goal.

Before you go to a feng shui consultation, it is important that you pay attention to choosing a good consultant. You should try to find out one who has experience and demonstrated knowledge. As with everything else, there are real feng shui consultants, who care for what they do, as well as there are others who do not. But you can easily check on this by asking him some references on where he learned and about past work.

A feng shui consultation may vary according to each different person and the way they like to work, but most of them would follow some general aspects in common. And, ideally, they should allow you to understand what they are talking about and what they are based on to give you a specific orientation.

Most of the times, a proper feng shui consultation would take the consultant to go to the place which must be harmonized. Sometimes a video of the place can be very helpful as well, but a proper feng shui consultation takes the consultant to be able to see the place before he can give certain advice.

A feng shui consultation could go through different stages. First, you may approach the consultant at his work office and let him know your general ideas. Then, he might ask you to give him a video of the space for which you are consulting him. Once he has the video, he can provide you with specific guidelines on what to do. And then, or instead of the last step, there would be a feng shui consultation stage done in the space itself.

The best advice you can receive from a feng shui consultation is based on accurate information. And, by allowing the consultant to actually see the place you would be able to receive the most accurate information and guidance possible.
