Floating Honeymoon Havens

By Kirsten Hawkins

Color-drenched sunsets. Magical moonlit walks along the ship's decks. Gazing out into the ocean and whispering words of love to your new spouse. Nothing is more romantic than a cruise. Honeymooners can have their choice of destinations and decide if they want to participate in all of the ship's activities or just join in a few and spend the rest of time in bed!

The great thing about taking a cruise for the honeymoon is the all-inclusiveness of the ship. Entertainment, food, lodging, activities ... all are part of the cruise price, something that a couple would not find at any land-locked resort. After spending a lot of money on the wedding of their dreams, newlywed couples find that a cruise not only satisfies their need to celebrate in some exotic or dream destination, but that it is also affordable. Newlyweds can just kick back and relax by the pool or sleep late. There are no time tables to keep on board the ship. They can go dancing at night or enjoy some live entertainment. It is their time to do whatever they want.

Cruise ships literally sail the seven seas. Name a destination (it would have to be near an ocean of course!) and a cruise ship can probably get there. Whether the happy couple wants share a towel on one of the black sandy beaches of Hawaii, climb the ruins of ancient Mexican cities or give each other Eskimo kisses on an Alaskan cruise, they can find the cruise of their dreams.

During the wedding and reception, their internal switch is stuck in the "on" position. After the wedding is over, the newlyweds need some time to wind down. The ocean breeze and ocean air soothes even the weariest of souls. Just watching the land disappear from the horizon as you set sail, gives you the feeling that you are leaving your worries behind.

Many honeymoon cruise packages are tailored for romance. Champagne and glasses in your cabin, breakfast in bed, flowers and gourmet nibbles are just a few of the perks you can receive as honeymooners. Other extras include his and her massages, special receptions just for honeymooners and a dedicated table for two in the dining room. Brides may also get complimentary sessions with a hair stylist and make-up artist so that she can look spectacular for her new husband.

Some cruise lines provide you with a choice of special shore excursions at one of their ports of call. If the newlyweds decide to go on one of those shore excursions, there is snorkeling in the crystal waters of the Caribbean or swimming in a private lagoon. Of course, they could also just meander through the streets of one of the many exotic ports at their own pace, experiencing the local culture.

Brides and grooms, paradise is close at hand. You can have the ultimate honeymoon by booking a cruise. Leave your worries on land (along with the in-laws) and set sail into your own world of wedded bliss.

Choosing The Right Honeymoon Vacations Package

By "Victor A."

After the long wedding with family and friends, a honeymoon is a time for you two alone, away from everything else and just focus on the special moments. Thus, planning a honeymoon is very important and can make a big difference on how you enjoy your time together.

Make sure both of you will enjoy the honeymoon spot. Talk together and look over honeymoon spots within the states or internationally. Many couples decide to take a honeymoon in the breathtaking New York City or the entertaining Las Vegas. However, if both of you like beaches Miami is a great honeymoon spot to enjoy the sun and spend time together. These are some places in the states, but there is an array of other exciting honeymoon vacations abroad.

Planning with a budget is common. If you don't have a budget than go for it all! Your honeymoon is a one in a life time experience and the best time to pamper yourself. However, if you're on a low budget you can still save on some expenses and still spend a wonderful honeymoon with out any hassle. Instead of staying at a luxurious hotel, you can choose a less expensive hotel with the same service. The most important thing is that you keep your privacy and enjoy your honeymoon without having to worry about prices and checking to see if there are vacant rooms. Always plan ahead, the last thing you want on a honeymoon is a headache.

According to your budget, choose your transportation to your honeymoon spot. Remember to always ask if there are any honeymoon packages, these are very common on airlines and cruises. Even driving is a great way to travel if your honeymoon destination is near. However, if you will be traveling farther away always ask for honeymoon vacation packages, they are very popular and you can get great deals with special packages.

If you're not sure where to go there are always travel agents that are more than helpful. Ask about honeymoon vacation spot that are within your budgets, look thru brochures and ask all the questions you need before choosing. Also, travel agents will inform you about the latest honeymoon vacation packages that will fit right into your budget. Last but not the least avoid taking heavy luggage with you. This gives a chance to shop around and buy memorable things from your honeymoon destination. If you are making a trip overseas get travel insurance done to have a carefree and happy journey. Also keep all the essentials like your credit cards, medicines, creams, camera, some foodstuff and the like for it is better to have your own things than to hunt for them at a new place.

To assure a complete hassle free honeymoon, avoid taking heavy or too much luggage. Having to carry heavy bags and unnecessary items will be a hassle. Take only what's necessary for the trip and remember that you will most likely buy memorable things to take back. Also, keep all your important documents and medicines near your and organized for easy access, this will be very helpful especially if you will be traveling abroad.

Plan ahead, travel light, keep organized and take advantage of honeymoon vacation packages! Have a care free honeymoon and savor every moment!
