(NC)—A complete break from routine – with guaranteed sunshine, sand and surf – is the only way to get a genuine taste of the mythical endless summer.

During July and August when the kids are at loose ends, when the corporate world finally slows down and our pace of life allows a little more time for relaxation, consider exploring a lot more of Florida at your leisure – and for as long as you like.

Daytime air temperatures in summer will hover around 30 C. The Gulf waters will be tepid, the Atlantic, fantastic. And once you're off the beach, air conditioning is second nature to switching on the light. There are other reasons to go during the summer as well.

Highlights Any Time of Year:

In North Central Florida, don't miss Devil's Millhopper State Geological Site near Gainesville. It features a giant sinkhole with cascading waterfalls and unusual flora.

In the Northeast, don't miss the Jacksonville Zoological Gardens.

Visit Tarpon Springs in Central West Florida – a Greek fishing town where an entire industry flourishes on the netting, production, and sale of deep-sea sponges.

In Central Florida, enjoy nature and learn more about these sub-tropical eco-systems on the Boggy Creek Airboat Rides.

In the Southeast, look for turtles on the beach at Port Everglades, or go snorkelling at the three-tiered reef off Lauderdale-By-The-Sea Beach.

In the Northwest, look for dancing dolphins in the shallows along Santa Rosa Sound and Destin Harbour.

Pool Safety Even On Vacation

By Jenna Simpson

Not many people are fortunate to have a pool in their backyard, and when one goes on vacation it's a great pleasure to swim in an outdoor pool. It can make your summer vacation more enjoyable.

Outdoor pools are great when the weather is nice and warm, and what better place then Florida. Though not every hotel offers pools, there are some who offer more than just a simple outdoor pool. If you stay at the ever increasing luxury villa, like the ones advertised on the Florida Vacation Rentals Web Site Orlando Villas, you will get your own private pool. How great would that be, you won't have to deal with sharing a pool with other hotel guests.

Of course that doesn't mean you can do whatever you want, you must still be careful; some people tend to forget pool safety. Fortunately, Florida state law has set some rules for villas with private pools. To prevent any mishaps while your enjoying the pool.

It goes without saying, though that all children must be supervised. Child alert pool alarms are required to be fitted onto any door leading to the pool. If the door is opened by a small child the alarm will sound to warn parents of danger. There will also be a set of pool rules posted so everyone can read and see them clearly.

Everyone wants a happy and memorable vacation, so by just following the simple rules and using common sense one won't face any problems. In addition parents are the ones who set examples, if you follow the rules your child will also do the same. So you can enjoy the summer with your children and make it a summer they won't forget.

All you have to do is go out and have a great summer and enjoy yourselves.
