Four Large Groups Of Limousine Customers In San Jose

By Mads Phican

As you might know, San Jose, California is one to best locations for a limousine service. The city has a large number of people (close to a million) and its prime location next to San Francisco makes the number of potential customers even large.

There are four large groups of limousine customers in San Jose. Let's try to take a look at each of them.

1 - Silicon Valley Millionaires San Jose is the hearth of Silicon Valley. Year after year Silicon Valley has spawned numerous millionaires that have become rich because of their high tech ideas and excellent technical skills. Some of these people have chosen to improve they life style and therefore enjoy limousine transportation as often as possible. Some San Jose residents might even take a limousine several times a week or everyday.

2 - Silicon Valley Companies In addition to the many Silicon Valley millionaires, San Jose is the home of several large companies. Most of these companies are specialized in high tech and electronics and includes the headquarters of such famous brands as Adobe, Cisco and Ebay. Other large companies like for example Hewleet-Packard, IBM and Lockheed Martin have large facilities in the city. All of these large companies have made a lot of money and they might very well choose to spend some of it on limousine transportation.

3 - Business Travelers It is not only the locals of San Jose who enjoy limousine transportation. Visiting business travelers might also choose to take a limousine or they might be offered one at the airport by the company they are visiting. Most often business travelers will require transportation to and from the airport, while the locals most often prefers more varied transportation in San Jose and the surrounding their vehicles, prices and much more.

Wedding Limousine Services

By Mads Phican

Most of us only use limousines for the most important days in our life, but getting married surely is one of those days. No big and romantic wedding is complete without the stylish transportation that a limousine gives you and your loved ones.

When you sit down and plan your marriage, you should first of all find out where and when you will be using limousine transportation. Most couples decide to use limousine transportation between the church and the reception, but you can also choose to enjoy the style and class of a limousine between your home and the church or between the reception and the departure point for your honeymoon (for example the airport).

After you have selected when and where you will use limousine transportation, you should decide which of your loved ones that will ride with you in the limousine. Some couples decide that only they should be riding in the limousine, while others decide to bring their parents, grandparents or other parts of their family. Some even decide to bring some of their friends. Most limousines seats around eight people, but some of larger limousines might be able to transport a large part of your marriage party with their capacity of 18–20 people.

You will now know when and where you will be using limousine transportation, so now you just need to find a limousine service. The further in advance you order, the easier and cheaper it will be for you to find a limousine. In most large cities there are several competing limousine companies, so you will often be able to get a good deal if you contact several limousine services. The only exception is the prom season, where they will an increased demand for limousines that most often makes it impossible to find a really good deal.

A list of limousine companies in many US cities can be found on the website
