Future Destinations for your Holiday Pleasure

By Bronwen Roberts

Some holiday destinations are true virgin territory. The point is not always first class or 5-star, but rather an experiential holiday in a place you never believed existed (...well, perhaps only in your dreams).

Ulusaba private game reserve in Southern Africa has rock lodges built into mounds of rock, which rise majestically from the bushveld. There is a hotel in Sweden built entirely from ice. In Spain, a circular lighthouse is at your disposal; designed by architectural maestro, Frank Lloyd Wright with views of the entire La Manga coastline.

Global rooms with views include treehouses, igloos, cave hotels, private desert islands and magnificent Indian palace hotels. Visit the jungles of Western Ghats, India where you can stay in eco-lodges, or a treehouse built 100ft above ground. For the more culturally minded, an art museum in Japan will accommodate you; or go India and have a royal experience in the tents of the Raj.

From mud huts in Indonesia to Native American hogans in Arizona, there are holiday locations that don't cost a fortune and are a lot more nuanced. Make it your New Year's resolution to travel more; to places that will blow your mind! Here are a few of them...

Ulusaba Game Reserve, Southern Africa

Carved deep into the <http://www.ulusaba.com> Ulusaba rock itself and elevated high above the great Sabi Sand Private Game Reserve stands the Rock Lodge. This fabulous Rock Lodge is located on a cliff face 243.8 metres (800 feet) above the Sabi Sand Reserve, with breathtaking and sweeping panoramic views of the wild African bush.

Each of the Ulusaba Rock Lodge luxurious 10 bedrooms is air conditioned with private decks overlooking the far-reaching savannah below. The Rock Lodge consists of 4 Rock Cliff Rooms; a superb stand alone, split-level Master Suite; and the Rock Suite, a family suite with 2 bedrooms. For guests wishing to treat their beloved to a super-luxurious experience, exclusive pampering and indulgence await at the new Makwela Suites, which boast spacious outdoor decks with private infinity plunge pools offering breathtaking vistas of the magnificent African bush. This unique lodge is sure to provide a spiritual awakening and adventure that will leave you longing to return to this place of wild beauty.

The Ice Hotel, Jukkasjärvi, Sweden

The Ice Hotel stands on the shores of the Torne River, in the old village of Jukkasjärvi in Swedish Lapland. It is constructed from 10 000 tonnes of ice from the 'ice manufacturing plant', the Torne River, and 30 000 tonnes of pure snow generously supplied by Mother Nature. The Ice Hotel is rebuilt every year, creating an ever, evolving space. The temperature in the Ice Hotel varies between -4 and -9 degrees centigrade, depending on the temperature outside and the number of overnight guests.

Rio Caliente, Volcanic Springs, Mexico

Accommodation in the middle of a volcano; you don't get more millennial than that! Recharge from the source at this ancient Huichol healing sanctuary, whilst enjoying perfect spring weather, no matter what time of year you choose to visit. Enjoy some of the world's most delicious low-fat organic gourmet cuisine, yoga, and deep massages.

Jules Undersea Lodge, Florida, United States of America

The world's first and only underwater hotel: Jules' Undersea Lodge (formerly La Chalupa research lab) also served as the site of the historic 1995 sea-space link-up. The lagoon is also the site of the Leagues Beyond – SCUBA program, which is a technical dive training and adventure program and houses historical artefacts of early ocean exploration. Both Jules' Undersea Lodge and MarineLab have been used in research on extended space travel.

game reserve is a very private affair, a once in a lifetime location set above 10 000 acres of unspoilt, game-rich African bush. Where else in the world can you stay in accommodation built into a rock face with sweeping, panoramic views of the African bushveld. Ulusaba's Rock Lodge is an architectural feat with all the usual refinements you would expect of a 5-star setting.

Boat Charters

By Graeme Ramsey

Charter boats are an excellent way to get away from it all whilst on holiday. Whether you decide on a bareboat charter boat, where you don't have a crew to assist, or a crewed boat, there are many benefits of choosing a charter boat holiday.

A crewed boat is the better option if you are inexperienced, as it will allow you to enjoy the freedom of the seas without the worries of navigation and changes in the weather. Many of the crewed boats also supply a chef so you won't even have to worry about your meals.

There are many destinations throughout the world where you can charter a boat. What could be more romantic than a holiday on the seas of the Caribbean or the Mediterranean?

Future Destinations for your Holiday Pleasure

There are various types of charter boats, from floating hotels to the more budget boats where you are getting just the bare necessities.

For long durations on the seas it is essential to get a boat that has all the facilities to maintain a comfortable lifestyle for extended periods.

You would need a good kitchen with enough storage for all your food and cooking requirements.

This is where it might be wise to select a boat charter that has been organised by recommended charter business that knows what will be required on the holiday and preferably supply an experienced crew.

It is especially important to get an experienced crew if you are boating in unfamiliar waters.

Any decision for a charter boat holiday needs careful planning to ensure that it will be a holiday that will be remembered for a lifetime.

A well-planned holiday will ensure you will be sailing on smooth seas whether the weather gets rough or not.

The location that you decide to take your vacation will also have a bearing on the type of boat you charter, as there are both motorised and non-motorised (sailboats) to choose from.
