The fickle world of fashion can be incredibly frustrating when trying to figure what's in, fashionably speaking. Fashionistas of all ages constantly seek the newest, hippest, most in item as quickly as possible, so you may feel like you are in a race to stay on top of the game. If you are wondering what's in for a given season, look no further than the fashion magazines that flood the newsstand. Regardless if you are a devoted subscriber or possess a passing fancy in fashion, use these great sources to determine what items are considered the hottest for the upcoming season. Also, take a look at stores and the streets to see what people are buying and what they are wearing.

Although the world of fashion may take a drastic turn at any minute, today's must have items are the following:

1.) Jackets, jackets, jackets to adore

The preppy look is back and jackets, blazers, and coats are now more popular than ever! Look for the classic blazer in unique materials and colors. Consider wearing that super preppy Kelly green corduroy blazer with your favorite, broken in jeans. Look at wearing that super soft velvet chinoise jacket with a dazzling silk skirt for the holiday season. For the chilly days, top a smart sweater with a snuggly down puffer vest for the sporty look that will keep you warm!

2.) Lingerie-inspired tops guaranteed to get you noticed

Whether you are hitting the hottest clubs or going to a business meeting, the hottest word in tops is the lingerie-inspired camis and tanks. These luxurious tops are usually made from supple silk with beading, sequins, embroidery, or lace accents. For the night life, wear these tops alone, but wear them under a great jacket (see above item!) for a hip, layered look. Pick a top in a juicy, vibrant color like apple green or jewel tone burgundy for that special addition to your holiday wardrobe.

3.) Wraps and shrugs, oo-la-la

Keep warm these chilly months while looking your best! Choose a luxurious pashmina wrap to serve as a stunning accessory and keep your bare shoulders warm. The newest trend in tune with the wrap fad is the shrug. This miniature sweater usually only covers the upper arms, either like a traditional sweater or a unique take on a cloak. The shrug provides a bit of warmth, but is mainly used for the fashion statement. For the hottest style of shrug, choose on in a richly dyed faux fur.

Fashion Hype

By Karen Conroy

Every new season brings new hype to the fashion world. This season's top hottie is the new "skinny jeans." These are the jeans from long ago when May Tyler Moore wore these slim cut pants on the Dick Van Dyke Show. Designers claim that all shapes and sizes can wear these jeans. The skinny jeans are made with lycra that stretch, hold you in and still be able to move freely. These amazing jeans come with a price, and boy will it cost you. Top end stores will be selling them anywhere from $100.00 - $300.00. Ouch! This price certainly is an eyesore to people on a budget. They will have to wait for markdowns that may take a while. Budget conscious people may have to opt for the same style of jeans with more affordable labels. Levi's will be coming out with a much more reasonably priced jean ranging from $25.00-$50.00.

As top models contend for the fashion spotlight, I have yet to see a person out of proportion wearing these jeans. Top designers always use the prettiest models with the best build. What about the average person? Not all are built with the best body, but want a shot to share the limelight modeling the best in fashion or see someone with not so perfect body wearing top fashions by the top designers.

Fashions, being universal, let out an excitement that is almost electric. "This seasons fashions by the best designers Oscar de la Renta, Bill Blass and Max Azea always top the charts with their signature fashions. From Europe to America every country has its own flare for fashion. From sexy to tame designers have us drooling for more. Months of planning and art layout and photography are now ready to be put in print with the most famous models on the magazine covers with the latest fashions for all the world to see. A funny thing about fashion is that it has come full circle. Capri pants, ruffles, bell-bottoms, and now the return of the "skinny jeans" to name just a few have made a huge comeback.
