Hate To Burst Your Bubble: Identifying 6 Common Internet Scams

by: Anna-Marie Stewart Venton

If you`ve been online for more than a week, you`ve probably already seen them. Ads that promise great wealth, in little or no time, for little or no work on your behalf. They then go on to tell you how simple and easy it is to work from home, being your own boss and setting your own hours.

Sounds great, doesn`t it? But is it actually true? Ok, so you get to decide your work hours, but let me tell you, there`s a LOT of hours involved here, and a LOT of hard work, and even then, you may not succeed in making enough money to quit your day job (IF any at all...)

There are tons of business opportunities out there to get involved with. Here`s a list of some of them, with their "TRUE" colours. I`m NOT saying every individual opportunity IS a scam, but a lot of them are, and you need to do your homework before you embark on the journey as an "internet marketer".

MLM, Pyramid Schemes etc:

Promise: You make money from sales, be it services or products. You recruit other sales people, and earn from their sales.

Fact: Most of the time, you`ll find that the people you`re trying to sell to are other distributors, and you`re all trying to sell to each other, which ultimately means no sales.

Holidays and Travels:

Promise: You get dirt-cheap or even free tickets, with tons of extras.

Fact: You could end up with no trip, or with a trip of a much lesser quality of services and accommodation than promised. Sometimes there are hidden charges and costs that you don`t find out about until you`ve paid.

Hate To Burst Your Bubble: Identifying 6 Common Internet Scams

Credit Cards:

Promise: Give us your credit card number, we need it to verify that you are over 18, then we can give you X, Y, and Z for free.

Fact: There are a lot of these that will run up charges on your credit cards

Health Care:

Promise: Our products can cure serious, or even fatal, health problems.

Fact: A lot of people will believe this one, without checking it out thoroughly. This can result in people not getting the necessary treatment they really need for their illness.

Investments:

Promise: Make a huge return on your investments with us, and make it FAST!

Fact: A big profit always carries a big risk, which mostly means you stand to lose your investment.

Chain Letters:

Promise: Pass this on and you'll earn a truckload of money.

Fact: Chain letters involving money and/or valuables are illegal! Even the ones that tell you they're legal and endorsed by the government. By starting, or passing these on, you are, in effect, breaking the law.

While a lot of programs truly ARE legitimate, there's thousands more that aren't. There are certain questions you need to ask the promoteur of any program/opportunity/offer before you make your decisions. What is the FULL outlay expected of me for membership fees, equipment and supplies? What will I get for my money? What exactly do I have to do (step by step)? Will I be paid a regular wage, or will my pay be based on commission? Who will be paying me?

Take your time. People promoting scams will likely use high-pressure sales tactics to get you to buy in to them. If the business opportunity is legitimate, it'll still be around when you're ready to decide.

How do you Cope?

By David Wakerley

How do you Cope? by David Wakerley

A few years ago, before the bubble burst on internet stocks, the chairman of the Federal Reserve, Alan Greenspan lost money on his personal investments because he 'didn't understand this new economy'.

Question: Are you coping on the internet and with all its changes and challenges?

1. Balance is the key

If you find the internet stressful and feel like you are being left behind, make sure that you have a 'slow-change' area of your life. Golf, a book, gardening are ways to stabilise your personal life which helps to integrate change without stress overload.

2. Think of the Future

Set a goal in your head to where you want to be in five years. This can put everything in perspective as you see your online business over time growing and your knowledge expanding. Realize that God wants everything you put your hand to, to succeed. So walk on in the confidence that you can meet any challenge.

3. What to do now

Explore new partnerships and alliances with other similar minded people. Most people would be happy and willing to swap ezine articles, ad space, hints and tips. The marketing 'guru' may be out of your reach but there are plenty of people that are just starting out. Remember there tens of thousands of people joining the Internet every day. Many of them are aware of, or have been stung by, one of the numerous Internet scams. Most have been disillusioned by hyped money-making schemes. The only way to overcome this obstacle is to build credibility. This takes time and effort, but it is the key to long-term success in Internet business.
