Health News From Hurricane Beaten Florida

by: Kevin Thompson

The hurricanes have been beating Florida to a pulp and causing untold property damage in that area of the country.

I have two good friends who live in the Tampa area, so I've been calling down there frequently to check on things.

I've already told you much about my friend Matt. And as you know, he and his family were over in China for awhile, so they missed much of the action (which is a good thing)

But my other good friend, Chet Rowland lives in Clearwater Beach, and he didn't miss a thing.

In fact, I was watching my local news here in Seattle a couple weeks ago, and here's this reporter doing a story on the Florida hurricanes.

But here's the catch...

She's standing on Clearwater Beach, with the pier in the background, trying to stay on her feet as the wind is howling through at incredible speeds.

I couldn't believe it!

Not just because of the winds, but because I saw the pier in the background.

I recognized that pier, because it's just down the beach from where my friend Chet lives..

So what do I do?

Health News From Hurricane Beaten Florida

I immediately pick up the phone and give him a call.

Isn't it funny how we react when we're concerned about those we care about?

As the story unfolded, Chet, and those who live in that area didn't fair too badly. But there were plenty of others who were seriously hurt by the hurricanes.

In fact, Chet even commented, "I'll bet you're going to have a lot of people from this area calling you as a result of these hurricanes."

And he was right.

You see, in addition to running the Health Articles and News Update site, I'm also an indoor air quality expert, and my specialty is in black mold.

I work with people across the country, showing them how to locate, clean-up and prevent mold growth in their homes and workplaces.

Anyways, let me get on with the story.

I think it was only a couple days after I'd talked with Chet.

I get this email from a client in Florida.

She starts telling me how she had bought some of my products a few months ago (before the hurricanes). I'll just go ahead and share it with you.

Here it is...

Kevin, I've been having health problems for months. After watching a news story on black mold, it got me thinking.

I then went on the internet and started doing some research and that's when I found your website at

I was a little skeptical to order anything online, but since you had that 30-day trial offer, I decided to give you a try.

I got your package in the mail and was amazed by everything you covered. You took me step by step through the process and made it so easy for me to find the mold problem in my home.

It ended up being water leak from the washing machine that was causing all the damage.

We got it fixed, and now I've never felt better. You have no idea what it's like to have my health back again, and I want to thank you for that.

And now, with all these hurricanes, a lot of our friends will be needing your help too.

I'm helping them as much as I can, but I'm no expert, so I'm also telling them how to get in touch with you.

I'm so glad there are still people like you in this world who are willing to help others, especially in a time like this.

Betty Wiggins

And she wasn't kidding either.

It's like Chet and Betty both had a vision of the future.

We've had tons of people calling from the Florida area, and we've been making sure they get the help they need.

You see, people in Florida are now forced to deal with the water damage that's been done to their homes because it's so extensive.

But most people don't realize how important it is to take care of any water damage, and to do so right away!

Water problems that aren't addressed will escalate into a full blown mold problem, and this puts you and everyone in your home at risk.

Because the demand has been so high, I'm offering a no-charge teleseminar on October 11th in order to help get this valuable information into your hands.

If you (or anyone you know) needs to find out how to wipe out the black mold threat in your home, you won't want to miss out on this.

Here's just some of the topics we'll be discussing: The 5 tell-tale danger signs of black mold... any one of these puts you, your family, and your home at risk How to find out if black mold is the cause of your health problems -- without a visit to the doctor's office The 3-step method to locating mold... that anyone can do, without spending a fortune to hire a professional

Hurricane Shutters

By Daniel Roshard

Hurricane Shutters are something very serious these days, if you read the news recently you probably know that the world climate is changing, as a result we are expecting more tropical storms in our region in the next few years, and the forecast for the hurricane shutters is that its going to be a much needed tool to protect your home.

A hurricane shutter is most common in the Southern states that often see bad weather a couple of months during the year. If you do not have these, you will risk a lot of damage to your house. Today more and more people are looking into buying hurricane shutters as a result of the last year storms and because some insurance companies has started recommending the use of hurricane shutters.

Hurricane or "storm panel" shutters are often constructed out of a solid steel or aluminum frame and provide protection superior to that of Bahamas, Colonial, wooden, or vinyl shutters. This shutter is also considerably less expensive than decorative shutters. You should think about the exterior of your house because those shutters are considerably less attractive-and you may want to put them in storage at the end of the hurricane season.

The reason that these shutters look less attractive should not deter you from considering them for protection of your home, although these hurricane shutters do not look so nice they can protect your windows, balcony, or storefront from bad weather. During a storm, these areas may be pounded with heavy rain, hail, and wind. If you have a hurricane shutter in place, you do not have to worry about a lot of damage. The great thing about the hurricane shutters is that they also give you some peace of mind while a storm is raging outside. The hurricane shutters can also help to protect the people inside of your house, and help to protect a little more then material positions. A hurricane shutter will go a long way in ensuring that your windows do not get busted out by bad weather.

Most hurricane shutters are designed for the use and maintenance of one person up and down operation. One person can operate the hurricane shutters and do it relatively fast so that the chances that you will not be prepared when a storm is on its way it relatively low. A great advantage if a storm sneaks up on you by surprise. This way, all you have to do is pull this shutter down and lock it into position; a simple five second job. While everyone else is boarding up their windows in the rain, you will be inside your house, protected from the elements.

The advice of most hurricane shutters companies is to set them up when the hurricane season starts and to take them off for the rest of the year, thus avoiding their looks and enjoying the protection the shutters offer. This is not a joke, and a lot of people use this advice, it makes sense that you want to keep your property protected when its hurricane season and once the danger is off to return to your "normal" look.
