How To Give The Perfect Best Man Speech

By James Nardel

So you're going to a wedding and you have to make a speech, but you sure as hell know that you don't want it to be a boring old speech like you know every one else's is going to be like. You want people to remember your speech and rightly so. It doesn't matter if you're the father of the bride, the best man or just a friend wishing the lucky couple well, making a memorable speech and making people laugh will add something to their wedding day.

It's been said that people fear public speaking more then any other one thing in life. My brother recently had the honor of being best man at his best friends wedding and the night before the big day, I think he was more nervous then the groom. He has always been an out going guy, but when it came to making a best man speech, he just couldn't think of what he wanted to say and he was nervous as heck having to stand up in front of all those guests and give a heart felt speech.

Here are some of the tips I offered to my brother for giving his best man speech. With these tips, I assure you, you won't embarrass yourself in front of the whole wedding party.

Tip 1 Stand up while speaking

Always, always stand up when giving a best man speech or a toast. Make sure you have the gatherings attention first before you speak, and the best way to do that is to stand up and wait for quiet. Standing up is the first rule of any good public speaking and a wedding is no different.

Tip 2 Plan what you want to say

Never try and wing the speech. Giving a best man speech needs to be planned and written down well in advance. My brother started working on giving his best man speech weeks in advance. Unless you are a really confident public speaker, this is the best way to make sure you say everything you wanted to say.

Tip 3 Practice makes perfect!

Practice your speech until you know it off by heart. There is nothing worse than giving a best man speech and having to look down at your notes constantly. Fidgeting with paper is a big no no.

Tip 4 Keep it clean

If you and the best man have known each other for a while and you've had some wild times together, this is not the time to air his dirty laundry. People think that giving a best man speech gives them the right to embarrass the groom and upset the bride, this is not the case. Don't mention the trip to the strip joint or anything of that sort.

Tip 5 Keep it short

No one wants to be bored for hours with your speech. Make it short and to the point and don't forget to add emotion when giving your best man speech. The wedding isn't about you, it's about the bride and groom, don't forget that.

I hope these tips have given you some pointers on what to do when giving your best man speech. Good luck!

Wedding Speech Templates

By James Nardel

As the best man, you are an integral part of the wedding process. It was up to you to throw the perfect bachelor party. On the day of the wedding, you not only made sure the groom was looking sharp, but also made sure he got to his wedding on time with his bride's ring. Now, as you're sitting to the groom's left at the reception, you stand and say, "I would like to propose a toast." Although you've done all your duties perfectly up to this point, the wedding toast determines how you will be remembered by everyone in attendance. The last thing you want is to look into the crowd at hundreds of blank stares as you stumble over your words. Not to worry, by following some simple tips and guidelines, you'll have an instant wedding toast that will impress the bride and groom and leave your audience with tears in their eyes.

How To Give The Perfect Best Man Speech

The ideal wedding speech should be between two and four minutes. Normally, in addition to the best man's wedding toast, the father of the bride, the groom, and the maid of honor should all be prepared to give a wedding speech. The father of the bride speech is should be given first. It consists of a congratulations to the groom for becoming part of the family, and wishes of good luck to the bride and groom. The groom speaks next, taking time to thank his family and friends for coming to the wedding and bringing gifts. The best man's speech follows the groom's wedding speech. The best man's speech should be a funny speech, which is why its so memorable to the audience. Finally, the maid of honor's speech is the a quick, concise wedding speech that signals its time to get back to dancing at the reception.

If you've read this far and still feel lost or overwhelmed, here are two words for you: don't be. You don't have to be a world renowned writer to write a memorable wedding speech. If you don't know where to start, InstantWeddingToasts.com has the answer for you. They provide over hundred wedding speech templates for immediate download. All you need to do is add your personal information about the bride and groom into the wedding speech template, and before you know it, you have a memorable instant wedding toast. Whether you're giving a father of the bride speech, the groom speech, the best man toast, or the maid of honor speech, there is a template for you.

You may be asking yourself, "Why should I use a wedding speech template?" The answer is simple. Weddings are a stressful time, and by using a wedding speech template, you're freeing up time to use on all your other wedding duties. Instant Wedding Toast templates are also the easiest way to guarantee that you'll give a speech that's memorable to everyone in your audience, including the bride and groom. You'll know that on the wedding day, whether you're the father or the groom, the best man or the maid of honor, you can stand up and say "I'd like to propose a toast" with confidence, because you know that you're about to put a tear in every eye in your audience.
