

This Free E-Book is brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!

Interesting Games In Nutty Party

By Rehan Husain

As it is nutty party, do not forget to include a walnut with a nut basket, a nutty costume with a nutty name. How exciting will the party be with all these nutty stuff?

Friday afternoon arrived and so did the guests, one dressed in Mother's long dress, one wearing a big hat and long earrings, and others in whatever strange apparel appealed to them as a Nutty Costume.

Sally met the girls at the door with a nut basket containing green and white badges about the size and shape of a big walnut shell. Each shell bore the name of a nut such as Wal, Hickory, Beech, Pecan, Hazel, Butter, Brazil, Cashew, Filbert, and Chest. The girl drawing the first green shell became the Head Nut for the Greens--the first girl taking a white shell became Head Nut for the Whites. The girls then pinned the nutty names on themselves and answered to those names for the evening. Of course Chest and Butter came in for quite a ribbing.

Even girls like to use their muscles now and then and show their strength, so for a Relay scaled to her living room Sally had a contest to discover the nuttiest team. She stretched a piece of tape outab eight feet long on the floor. First the Head Nuts from each team stood on the line facing each other. Each girl stood with both feet on the line, with heel and toe touching the line. Each contestant clasped the right hand of her opponent. Then by pulling, each tried to make the other player lose her balance without losing her own. The one who stepped off the line first lost a point. The one who stayed on the line won a point for her team. If both stepped off at the same time they started over again. They continued this relay until each girl had a turn. Then the Head Nuts added up the points and announced the winning team.

Next Sally had a "Living Room Balloon Race." The girls of each team sat in a row on the floor, one directly back of the other, so that the two teams made two parallel rows. The Greens were handed a green balloon and the Whites a white one. At a signal the Head Nut in each row passed the balloon from the palm of her right hand to the palm of the right hand of the person behind her, who in turn followed suit and so on down the line. The last girl transferred the balloon to her left hand and passed it up the line again, this time by the left hand. At no time could the player touch the balloon with her free hand. If it fell off, the player behind picked it up with both hands and passed it on with one hand. The first team to return the balloon to the Head Nut won and was awarded twenty–five points.

Interesting Games In Nutty Party

Top of this game comes when each player tried to make the other player lose her balance without losing her own in the attempt of trying losing balance of others and maintaining own balance, this situation makes all the girls burst out with loud laugh.

Mitch Johnson is a regular writer for

<http://www.kids-games-n-crafts.com/>

. His articles have also

appeared on

<http://www.solidcomicbooks.info/>

and

<http://www.tipsforcomicbooks.info/>

A Nutty Party

By Rehan Husain

Some kids are so eager of party that it becomes difficult for them to wait until their next birthday arrive. For such kids a nutty party is one of the easiest ways to entertained them and their friends.

After this hilarious game the girls needed a bit of time to catch a breath, so they played Dark Dog. Each girl was given a 4 x 6 blank card and a pencil. The players were warned to take a good look at the card because they were going to be blindfolded. When all were blindfolded they were asked to draw a dog. After this they were told to put a collar on the dog. Then to draw a bone in front of him. And then to draw a license tag hanging from his collar. The blindfolds were then removed and the astounding pictures exhibited.

While lunch was being prepared girls displayed the snapshots of their pet dogs, and gave the two–minute talks they had prepared about their dogs and the advantages of that particular breed.

Refreshments for Joan's party were simple. Hot dogs, and milk, with frozen ice–cream dogs for dessert were served from a table covered with a gay–colored paper tablecloth which was decorated with dog cut–outs. A cardboard doghouse was the centerpiece. Favors were small figures of dogs. Joan and her crowd voted this Doggy affair tops among their party experiences.

"Can't I ever have a party unless it's my birthday?" Sally demanded. Her mother looked up from her mending startled. "Why, I hadn't thought of it that way, Sally. I just took it for granted that children's parties meant a birthday party."

Interesting Games In Nutty Party

"You and Daddy have more parties than just one a year," answered Sally. "I don't see why I can't." Sally's mother thoughtfully considered the question. Why shouldn't a youngster entertain her friends at least as often as her parents entertain theirs? Then she replied. "I think, Sally, that you have a point. If you would like to entertain your friends, of course you can have a party."

So Sally and her mother sat down together to plan a party. Sally suggested that since this was sort of a nutty idea of hers why not make it a nutty party. Why not indeed? The invitations were typed on slips of thin paper which read:

You are invited to a Nutty Party, Friday after school, February 4, at the Nut House, 805 Blunt Street. Wear a Nutty costume for a Nutty good time (Signed) Your Nutty friend, Sally.

These invitations were then folded small enough to fit English walnut shells which Sally delivered to the girls she wanted at her party.

Invitations for the party are divided among all her nutty friends written in nutty words. Giving this party is not expensive but also really enjoyable for your nutty kids.

Mitch Johnson is a regular writer for

<http://www.kids-games-n-crafts.com/>

. His articles have also

appeared on

<http://www.mycomicbooksresource.info/>

and

<http://www.solidcomicbooks.info/>

This Free E-Book has been brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!