GOD'S TRYING TO TELL YOU SOMETHING

By Pastor David Walker

Behold, I stand at the door and: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.

Do you think God is trying to tell you something? I believe God is always trying to get our attention. God desires our attention no matter our social, economical or educational background. Our ethical heritage, gender and age do not stop God from knocking at our door. He still wants our attention if we are saved or unsaved.

Often we are so caught up in the world around us we don't take the time to seek or hear from God. There is no doubt about it life can be challenging and overwhelming. Many times we become mindful of God during our times of struggles. Isn't it wonderful that God is still mindful of us even though were not mindful of Him.

How often has God prompted you with a soft knock at the door of your heart and you ignored Him. The Bible shares with us, not to harden our hearts when we hear His voice. I believe God is always prompting us to receive His salvation. He is always trying to give us a way of escape from our struggles and sins. It is up to us to listen and obey.

God is not a God that needs to use disasters and death for us to turn to Him. He is a God that is always extending his mercy to help us through our struggles. If it were not for God and His son Jesus

Is God Trying To Tell You Something

Christ where would we be? It is through His son Jesus Christ that we have away back to God. It is because of God's mercy that evil hasn't destroyed us.

Listen, friend, take some time today to talk with God about your struggles and life. He is standing at the door of your heart wanting to talk with you. Today is the day to open up your heart and let Him in.

let me tell you something

1. God does not exist.
2. Allah does not exist.
3. Jesus does not exist.
4. Shiva does not exist.

almost 90% of the people reading this blog would not mind my first sentence, just dismissing me as an atheist,

However, #2 for Muslims, #3 for Christians, # 4 for Hindus would definitely anger these respective people, and i'm sure they would fight me tooth and nail to prove their point. Well I'm not here to debate the existence of god, just the existence of our ignorance.

Why aren't we as much angered when somebody talks about just "God" , than when somebody talks about my God. It seems that these people do accept then that there is a God, and there is my God. It also proves that 'my God' is not the real God , atleast for me because I'm not angered or incensed or even bothered when somebody says that "God does not exist".

And while I'm bothered when somebody drags "My God" into a controversy, i am a little worried for the plain "God" who doesn't have any takers.

It also reveals that we want to ascribe to our religious beliefs in a way more than the religion itself dictates. I do feel that most of the time the culprit is not "God" who by the way was never clear about his real identity and thus created the plethora of confusion among us, but rather our very own religious egos.
