NAOMI AND THE FIVE LIFE LESSONS

NAOMI AND THE FIVE LIFE LESSONS by Ron Kimball

Recently, I attended a seminar that featured Naomi Judd, half of the legendary country music duo, The Judds. Naomi, with her talented daughter, Wynonna, set the standard for country music by selling millions of albums, performing to 'sold out' audiences, and winning numerous awards.

The Judds had just finished a whirlwind reunion tour after a decade of not appearing on stage together. During that time Wynonna pursued a successful career as a solo artist while Naomi recovered from illness. Incidentally, Naomi's youngest daughter, Ashley, is a talented actress.

Naomi talked about the early days of being a single Mom and raising her 2 daughters and having a dream to "make it" in the music business.

She worked as a nurse and actually secured a record deal with a record company executive while a member of his family was a patient.

She said that her daughters didn't always appreciate her disciplinarian ways. In fact, the girls' favorite saying was, "If it ain't one thing, it's your mother!" But she was disciplining them for what would lie ahead for their futures.

Naomi taught her girls 5 important life lessons:

NAOMI AND THE FIVE LIFE LESSONS

(1) Change is the true nature of the world.

–She insisted that security is superstition.
The only true security comes from within.

(2) Choices are sacred.

–You always get to choose. Just learn to question every choice that presents itself in your life.

(3) Honor your intuition, or inner wisdom.

–Be defined from within. Silence and solitude can be helpful and are creativity's best friends. Live by your inner wisdom. "Your gut gets it before your head figures it out."

(4) Take risks.

–Risks can be fun. They help you out of your comfort zone. You were actually BORN TO WIN. But "any kind of success without personal fulfillment is still failure."

(5) Peace of mind is the goal.

–It gives you the ability to deal with "stuff."

She remarked that shutting out background noise, such as the TV, is essential. There was a period of time when her and her kids didn't have a TV for entertainment. In fact, there wasn't any electricity, telephone, or running water.

As a result, Wynonna improved her singing and guitar playing, while Ashley honed her acting skills and became a voracious reader.

It's evident that Naomi has complete confidence in her inner wisdom. She paced confidently back and forth on the stage, making eye contact with every listener in the audience.

Naomi Judd is living proof that adopting these 5 life lessons can help to enrich your life and fulfill your dreams.

You Gotta Have A System

By John Colanzi

You Gotta Have A System by John Colanzi

I'm sure you've read ads telling you how to make a "boat load" of cash overnight. The promoter tells you how much they made sending out their announcement.

The orders started flooding in.

The statements are probably true, but the promoter has left something out of the equation.

They haven't told you, the product didn't make the profits. Their system did.

Study what any of the "big boys." I guarantee they have a system.

I can tell from reading my email, many marketers are looking in the wrong direction.

Here's a typical question.

"I just looked at your program and wondered if you're really making money with it."

They are looking in the wrong direction.

Number 1. I don't promote anything I don't make money with.

I don't have time to waste. If something doesn't make money it's taking time and resources away from something that will.

Number 2. The product isn't making me money.

I am.

NAOMI AND THE FIVE LIFE LESSONS

I've been online long enough to develop my system.

You have to build your business one day at a time. As you build your business, you'll develop your system.

I remember as a little kid visiting my Uncle Bill.

Uncle Bill had a corner store in South Philly.

On every visit, Uncle Bill would call all of us into the dining room. He'd turn to my mother and say, "Mommy Naomi you tell them."

My mother would always turn to Uncle Bill and say, "Uncle Bill, Ya gotta have a system."

Uncle Bill would get a big smile and say, "Hear that boys. Mommy Naomi knows."

We would laugh. We never understood how true those words were.

Now I realize so many years later, my mom and Uncle Bill were sharing "Pearls Of Wisdom."

If you're serious about your business, heed the words of advice from my mom and Uncle Bill.

Ya Gotta Have A System.
