

This Free E-Book is brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!

Planning A Myrtle Beach Vacation That Suits Your Budget

By Kyle Greatbatch

When planning your Myrtle Beach vacation, it is important to choose a city location that suits your needs and budget. With the wide variation, it can be hard for you to choose. Before planning your Myrtle Beach vacation, sit down and figure your budget. You need to plan for hotel, meals, and entertainment.

As one of the most affordable hotels, The Ocean Plaza is a bargain. Over two-hundred feet of beach are adjacent to the hotel. Beachfront service caters to guests needs. Unfortunately, parking is hard to come by.

Many guests find themselves parking in lots a block away and then having to walk to the hotel along quiet streets and alleys. This can be a safety issue for the solo guest attempting a Myrtle Beach vacation.

For a few more dollars per night guests can stay at the lavish sounding Boardwalk Beach Resort. The resort sits on seven-hundred feet of sandy beach and is an easy walk to the nearby amusement park.

The accommodations at this hotel aren't well suited to a family traveling with young children. However, it can be a perfect choice for the business traveler.

Litchfield Plantation includes a private beach on the plantation's secluded island. The price is above average which makes it hard for the average person to afford.

Despite the lavish accommodations, this hotel is probably not a great choice for your Myrtle Beach vacation unless you have the money to spare. If that is the case, why not stay on a plantation during your Myrtle Beach vacation?

Another good choice when planning a Myrtle Beach vacation is a stay at the Sheraton Myrtle Beach Hotel. The hotel was built just a few years ago and offers all the amenities a traveler will need.

Planning A Myrtle Beach Vacation That Suits Your Budget

Guests rave over the friendly staff, spotless rooms, and exceptional comfort. While slightly higher in price, fussy travelers will find themselves happy with this hotel selection.

You want to enjoy your trip and it's important that you choose a hotel that has staff that understands how important your comfort is. When you take a bit of time before you make your reservations you can find accommodations that match your needs to a tee.

Once you have chosen a suitable hotel, you can continue making plans for your Myrtle Beach vacation. It can save time and energy if you research activities in advance.

Many attractions offer discounts to tourists who purchase their tickets early. Some online sites even offer discount coupons on attraction that are found in Myrtle Beach.

With Myrtle Beach within tolerable driving distance of many states, you can save on airfare. This cost saving factor allows you to spend the majority of your Myrtle Beach vacation budget on the thing that matters most which is having fun!

By Kyle Greatbatch

<http://www.always-vacation.com>

Myrtle Beach Golf Vacations and Hurricanes - How to Weather the Storm?

By Evans Putman

Myrtle Beach Golf Vacations and Hurricanes How to Weather the Storm
Copyright 2005 Evans Putman

<http://www.perfectgolfvacations.com>

Hurricane season in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina runs from June through November each year. The peak months for hurricane activity are August and September. If you are planning a Myrtle Beach golf vacation during these times of the year, you should prepare yourself before arriving at your golf destination. This article provides tips and advice on how to weather any storm the tropics might throw at you while enjoying your golf vacation.

NOAA, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, predicts that 2005 will be another above-average Atlantic hurricane season. The organization predicts 12 to 15 tropical storms, 7 to 9 hurricanes and 3 to 5 major hurricanes. Vacationing golfers should not take these predictions lightly. We have already seen one of the busiest Julys in the history of hurricane tracking.

Golfers should not let these predictions deter them from taking a golf trip to the Myrtle Beach area during the summer and fall seasons. Summer golf deals along the Grand Strand are hotter than our southern summers. Also, fall in Myrtle Beach provides golfers with dropping accommodation rates to accompany falling temperatures and humidity.

Planning A Myrtle Beach Vacation That Suits Your Budget

If you are unlucky enough to be right in the middle of a golf vacation when a hurricane takes aim at the coast of the Carolinas, don't worry. Unlike an unexpected afternoon thunderstorm, hurricanes do not sneak up on the South Carolina coast. This gives vacationing golfers plenty of time to leave before the situation gets dangerous.

The best piece of advice we can offer if you plan on visiting the Grand Strand golf area during hurricane season is to keep an eye on the extended Myrtle Beach weather forecast. If a hurricane approaches during your trip, don't panic. As soon as it looks like you may need to abandon your golf vacation, begin following these steps.

- > Watch the local weather station and follow their advice.
- > Check on earlier flights and arrive earlier at the airport.
- > Fill car with a full tank of gas at first sign of hurricane.
- > Map out evacuation routes before your leave.
- > Pack water and food in case of traffic jams when driving.
- > Don't wait until the last minute to evacuate.

Most golf packages provide refunds or rain checks in the event of cancellations and evacuations due to hurricanes. Make sure to ask about this before booking your Myrtle Beach golf vacation. Even if you are not planning a Myrtle Beach golf trip during hurricane season, go ahead and ask your golf package provider about refunds and cancellations caused by bad weather.

Whatever you do, don't take the threat of hurricanes lightly. Pay attention to local weather forecasts. Listen to local officials. Follow the steps above and give yourself plenty of time to evacuate your golf vacation destination safely.

Author Evans Putman is the Owner of

<http://www.perfectgolfvacations.com>

your source for the best golf destination information. We deliver "Truth in Golf Travel". PerfectGolfVacations.com delivers the best local market information and word-of-mouth recommendations from golf destinations like Myrtle Beach, Las Vegas, Ireland, Hilton Head, and more. Keep current with updates, news and specials at our

<http://www.perfectgolfvacations.blogspot.com>

This Free E-Book has been brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!