ROOMMATE REPAIR TIPS–PATCHING DRYWALL by dan the roommate man

Sometimes when you rent places things happen. People can get out of control and damage is done to the rental property. The most common problem is holes in the walls. These holes can be fixed by you which can save you from having the landlord fix it and deducting it off your security deposit.

If you put a small hole in the wall when you are moving out, you can repair it quickly.

For holes less than two inches in diameter you will need:

- * Putty knife
- * Wallboard knife
- * Peel and stick repair tape
- * Spackling compound
- * Sand paper

Step #1

If the hole is small with no cracks around the edges, simply use the putty knife to fill the hole with spackling compound. Let it dry and sand.

Step #2

If the hole does have cracked edges, you may need to cut away the loose edges. Then cut a piece of mesh to cover the area.

Step #3

Use your putty knife to smooth the spackling over the area. Then use a damp sponge to smooth the area out. Let dry and apply another layer of spackling if necessary.

Step #4

Sand the area smooth.

The New EZRip Makes Drywall Scoring Easy! by Richard S. Deboi

The EZRip Drywall Tool Company today unveiled its drywall ripping tool EZRip which enables drywall professionals to cut wallboard more effectively. The EZRip vastly improves the efficiency of drywall cutting and completely eliminates traditional training time.

The EZRip makes scoring drywall amazingly simple, and gives you the most precise measurement possible in the shortest amount of time. The EZRip conveniently combines measuring, marking, and ripping into one quick and easy operation. No more using your thumb as a guide or snapping a very long chalk line!

The EZRip features a lightweight, telescopic design with additional storage for 10 drywall blades. And, while the EZRip measures only 24 inches in length, it can rip up to 12 feet of drywall. You can choose from four scales, allowing you to measure off the amount you keep or the amount you cut. Once the measurement has been set, the EZRip can be quickly drawn across the drywall panel for a clean, accurate cut.

The use of EZRip is not strictly reserved for drywall professionals, general contractors, or skilled carpenters. It can also round-out the preferred tool box of the home owner and "do-it-yourselfer," by aiding in the most ambitious remodeling job. For additional information visit www.BuyEZRip.com
