George W. Bush has been in office for a little more than 3 ½ years. His resume is that of the poorest of all time and yet he is on the verge of being re-elected.

Bush has done so many wrong doings it is hard to find a place to start. He has taken over a country who clearly did nothing wrong, ignored another country which now is leading back to their Soviet ways, ignored yet another countries nuclear weapons ability, disregarded the needs of our veterans and retired peoples, and as well lost over 2 million jobs and created just 300,000 low paying ones in return.

His ignorance has left the United States unwanted and heart broken. The USA went to Iraq for no reason at all. People can say that Saddam was a bad man all they want, but there is no proof. Iraq did not have nuclear weapons like the ones described in Bush's speech, Iraq did not try to steal uranium like in the same speech and the 'horror' stories which were told throughout the Iraq campaign of Saddam murdering his people was later found false. The Iraq war has now left more than 1,000 American soldiers dead and tens of thousands Iraqi civilians decapitated or dead.

His idea of killing terrorists is bombing market places and ambulances like the ones just a few days ago leaving 20 civilians dead, including one Pakistani news cameraman who caught the whole ordeal on video and was shown later that night on television showing the so called "precision bombing" of the United States is one that is killing normal innocent Iraqis.

The president also managed to ignore Russia's need for protection and for feeling important in making decisions world wide. And now Russia has begun to turn to their old Soviet ways. Putin announced just yesterday, September 14th 2004 that he is seeking far more power for "protection against terrorists." The problems is, the power which he is seeking will give him the ability to hand pick his "congress" and make decisions for the people, voting will no longer be needed.

George W. Bush's arrogance towards North Korea is even worse. The United States knew they were trying to create nuclear weapons, however did nothing to stop it. Instead the USA is now trying to have stop production of their 10th nuclear weapon and not even dealing logically towards making a peace treaty or having them dismantle the weapons which have the ability to kill millions of lives within China, South Korea, Japan and possibly Taiwan.

His egotism towards the veterans' and retired people's Social Security has led to his new "plan" which in return asks veterans retired Americans to give up their health benefits and lead to paying 37%, even more as the years roll on, towards medications.

Bush's idea of job creation is poor as well. His idea of creating jobs within the United States is that of creating jobs at McDonalds and other faculties which pay on average $9,000 per year, far less than what is needed to pay bills and have an adequate education for our children.

What is worse is that his outsourcing of jobs will only lead to even more low paying ones and a higher tax burden on the average American.

We need to do something about this now. Vote against Bush, even if it is for a third party. Do not vote for George W. Bush in November! He is destroying America, the land which we love and have died for through so many wars. Let's elect a new president to save our freedom and land we love.

Who Does A Conservative Vote For ? by J.R.

Recently I received an email from a listener stating that President Bush was wrong for america, that although he fights terrorism he won't guard our borders. He further stated that the President cuts taxes, but spends worse than any liberal in history. The listener went on to say just because the President is better than any democrat doesn't make him good for the country.

Well ladies and gentlemen, herein lies the problem. Who do we conservatives vote for ?

The answer lies within the listeners email. Quote "just because the President is better than any Democrat doesn't make him good for the country". In his statement we find six words which answer our question, The President is BETTER than any Democrat . This doesn't just make him good for the country it makes him BETTER for the country.

The Presidents recent announcement of a new immigration policy and the fact that he has increased Federal spending are reasons for conservatives to be upset, but don't cut off your nose to spite your face. Many conservatives are threatening to vote for the Democratic Presidential candidate, or not to vote at all.

Consider this, the democrats are in favor of an even more liberal immigration plan than the Presidents. The democrats would increase Federal spending even more than it currently is, remember Senator Kerry is considered to have a more liberal voting record than Senator Kennedy.

Many conservatives are forgetting that the President has stood with us on most issues that we hold dear, National Defense, Outlawing Partial Birth Abortion, Saving the sanctity of marriage, and cutting taxes.

The President refused to sign the Kyoto Treaty which was a largely unfair resolution that would have created huge environmental regulations on U.S. manufacturers, possibly causing job losses. He also refused to sign a weapons proliferation resolution in the U.N. that in part would have outlawed private firearms ownership throughout the world, for any country who signed it. He also unsigned the International Criminal Court treaty which was signed by President Clinton in December of 2000, which would have allowed for U.S. troops or Presidents, or anyone else for that matter to be tried for war crimes and other crimes as the ICC saw fit. The funny thing there is that President Clinton was one of the persons that the ICC was considering charging with war crimes, good thing for him that President Bush unsigned the treaty, or Clinton could have been seated next to Milosevich in the Hague!

Conservatives must wake up ! The best choice for conservatives, the best candidate to advance the conservative agenda is President George W. Bush.

You need only to look at the alternatives to come to the conclusion that President George W. Bush is still the man for the job !

I'm J.R. and that's my take .
