By A. Pruder

If you are planning a vacation, enjoy keeping up to date with the latest fashion of simply want a classic business look, sandals are a must. A good sandal will be designed for comfort and support, durability and promise to withstand plenty of use. With a few simple tips, you will be ready to shop for sandals and will soon be stepping out with confidence.

Comfort. The first thing to consider with any footwear, including sandals, is comfort. If a shoe isn't comfortable, there is no use in wearing it. Blisters, balance problems and overall discomfort are the result of poorly fitting shoes.

Affordability. Just because you are looking for a new pair of sandals, there's no reason to empty the bank account in doing so. Quality sandals can be comfortable and affordable at the same time. By shopping around and comparing prices, you will find the perfect sandals at the perfect price.

Design. Everyone wants a shoe that looks good, which is why design is very important. In selecting a color scheme that suits your taste and lifestyle, you will not only feel good in your new sandals, but you will look good too.

Versatility. One of the most important factors of shoe selection is versatility. Will the shoes work with your daily errands and look equally snazzy with your favorite pair of jeans? Sandals are a terrific compliment to blue jeans for a classic look.

Know what you are buying. Always purchase from a reputable, authorized shoe retailer. There are a lot of imitation products out there, including clothing and footwear. Buying from an authorized retailer will eliminate the chances of buying fake merchandise.

Try before you buy. If you are purchasing locally, go in and sample several pairs of sandals. Try them on, take a few steps and move your foot around inside the shoe. In making sure that you have ease of movement and a proper fit, you will be much happier with your purchase.

Birkenstock Boots – Durable Footwear With Sole To Boot

By Helen Walters

When you think about birkenstock footwear, most likely sandals, and perhaps clogs come to mind. Certainly that is what they are most famous for. Very comfortable, durable sandals that are great for both casual daily wear, and even casual summer parties. Those who have used 'Birks' know that they will last for ages and gently form to the shape of your feet to provide an excellent fit that is just right for you. If you have any doubt, simply slip on another person's pair and you'll understand.

However, Birkenstock has recently added boots to their line of footwear products expanding out from sandals and clogs to include both shoes and Birkenstock boots. Time will tell if they are as successful as the sandal line, but if their sandals are any proof, the boots should be a success as well.

There are 3 basic types – approach/day trip boots in the Birkenstock Alpine series, regular aggressive hiking boots in their Rockford line, and a several trendy boot styles like the Segovia Calf–boot for women.

When you go out to look for a new pair of Birkenstocks, you may find that they fit a little differently than what you are used to. Don't let this bother you. Simply try on a slightly different size and you should be able to find a pair that is comfortable for your feet.

No question boots are not what made Birkenstock famous. However they their experience producing top end casual footwear gave them a great base for developing a quality line of boots from the start. They were able to do it all without loosing sight of their core principle of simplicity and durability.

So, the next time your go shopping for a quality pair of boots or shoes be sure to check out what Birkenstock has to offer. They may be slightly more costly than other sandals, but they will last much longer, and will be more comfortable on your feet and back as well.
