Show Your Affection By Giving Him A Unique Gift

By Alison Palmer

You can't believe your luck. After dating what seemed to be an endless line of losers, you have finally found your own Mr. Right. He is special to you in so many ways and for so many reasons, and for that you want to show your affection by giving him a unique gift. There's only one problem: you don't have the slightest clue where to begin looking. Well, don't worry, because in this article we'll give you some sure-fire ideas to present your man with the perfect gift that is sure to leave the right impression.

The most important thing to keep in mind when looking for a gift for your guy is his interests. By now, you should have a pretty good idea about the things he is passionate about. Is he a huge sports fan? Does he love cars? Is he crazy about music or movies? By identifying the true loves of his love (aside from you of course), you will have a better starting point for choosing a truly unique gift.

Now that you have made a mental checklist of the things he is interested in, you want to go beyond the standard gift. If he likes a certain sports team, a T-shirt or sweatshirt bearing the team logo would make a fine gift. But will it provide the effect you are shooting for? Probably not. Instead, why not take it a step further by getting him tickets to see his team play, or getting him a baseball autographed by one of his favorite players? By going the extra mile, you will elicit the desired reaction from your guy.

While money can certainly purchase unique gifts that are great, what if you don't have the financial resources to buy something for your guy? This is definitely not a problem. In fact, gifts that are thoughtful and come from the heart are likely to have just as good an effect (if not better). For example, say you and your guy like the same type of music. You can burn him a CD compilation of all the songs that have special meaning in your relationship, or from bands that you both enjoy. This gift is perfect because it is unique to your relationship alone, and each time he listens to it he will think of the memories the two of you have made.

Another perfect idea is to make him a scrapbook celebrating your relationship together. Include photos and other special pieces that will show him just how much he means to you. He will certainly appreciate the thought and effort you put into such a gift, and it is sure to hit just the right note.

These ideas should give you a good starting point when considering a unique gift for your guy. It is important not to put too much pressure on yourself when selecting a gift, because he will most likely love anything given to him by you. Just remember that you can never go wrong giving him something that comes from the heart while keeping his interests in mind. Good luck!

If you ever wondered about the origins of gift giving; it is said to have originated from an ancient Roman practice surrounding an annual festival. During the Saturnalia, citizens of Rome presented the emperor and each other with tokens of good luck, called strenae. Initially, the gifts had little material value, being merely symbols of the donor's good wishes. As the practice evolved, it became customary to give precious gifts, including clothing and objects made of precious metals.

Today when we exchange gifts with each other we still do it as a token. Whether it be a token of affection, or appreciation today's gifts are given in great or small packages but they all represent the same concept. The gift giver respects the recipient enough to present her with a gift. Finding just the right gift can be difficult because we want that one product to be the right gift for the right person.

Gift baskets simplify gift giving. Gift baskets solve this problem because they include a variety of gift items. With a variety of gift items in a basket, you can be sure the recipient will find products they like.
