Soccer Gear

By Cathy Peterson

Soccer gear accessories come under a wide price, ranging from under $30 to over $1,800. An exhaustive list of the soccer gear probably would run something like this, ball, corner and linesman flags, bags, footwear along with their accessories, training wear including, shirts, T-shirts, shorts, socks, shin guard and goalkeeping accessories like the soccer helmet, gloves, elbow and flexible knee protection pads and athletic tapes.

Separate apparels for women are also available including undergarments designed to provide maximum comfort during the game.

A Franklin 2-Soccer set is designed to suit all ages to mainly develop skills like precision kicking and goal keeping. Used to a large degree in practice sessions, this costs about $20. An Air Puck Soccer Training set is used for training indoors, so one need never feel out of shape during soccer season. A complete soccer goal set with a ball, a pump, 6-low cones and a water bottle can be obtained for around $45. A portable, inflatable mega soccer set is specially tailored for kids to play anywhere, be it the beach, in the front or the backyard of the house.

Branded footwear for soccer ranges from $80 to an autographed game model costing $400. Nike, Puma and Adidas are some of the most sought after brands. Comfortable footwear are molded with a cushioned sole. The studs at the base serve to increase the stability and acceleration. For women special soccer shoes for enhanced performance are available for $60. Studded and molded shoes with raised collars offer great comfort with no compromise on traction and speed. These shoes can usually be used in even as well as natural surfaces.

Among one of the products created for game training is the soccer practice session's software. These softwares have specific, individual system requirement. These softwares can be broadly categorized into two types. One that prescribes a series of work-outs for the individual to increase the fitness level and another that presents a scheme of strategies for attacking and defending during the game. In a whole sale point the softwares may be obtained for around $57. Tactics 4.0 Disk 1, PDA Soccer Statware, Soccer Manager Standard Edition and SPRI VIC-SR Training Pack are some of the known packages. The softwares are a definite asset for coaches as it helps them tremendously in efficient team management.
