Stretch Your Bathroom Remodeling Budget Further With Discount Bathroom Vanities

By Frank Johnson

Remodeling a bathroom can end up costing you a significant chunk of change. When you add up the cost of that new sink, flooring, paint, and new contemporary vanity, the end result could be much more than what you were expecting. However, if you shop wisely and find discount bathroom vanities, you'll find that remodeling your bathroom doesn't have to cost you that much.

Where to Find Discount Bathroom Vanities

Not all home and bathroom remodeling shops offer discounted bathroom vanities and furnishings. Many high-end shops that offer the latest vanity styles and designs often charge outrageous prices, even for basic contemporary bathroom vanities. However, there are bathroom furnishings suppliers that deal in wholesale and get significant discounts on many of today's top vanity designs and styles. Modern Bathroom, for example, offers discounted bathroom vanities at rock-bottom prices, including high-end vanities like the Charleton Vanity and Futuro Vanity. Finding discount bathroom vanities will allow you to afford more contemporary and stylized vanities, helping you transform your boring bathroom into an elegant room. Paying full price for your vanity will limit the level of elegance of your new bathroom remodel. So, if you want to afford the best, look for discount bathroom vanities. A good place to start is the Internet. The Internet is filled with online bathroom remodeling websites that offer bathroom furnishings at affordable prices and can provide you with the discount bathroom vanity you need to save on your renovation.

Top Vanities for Your Bathroom

Upgrade Your Bathroom Vanity And Increase Your Home's Value Over The Weekend

By Timothy Labas

Want to increase the value of your home in one weekend? Bathroom remodeling could be just the ticket. From complete makeovers to "quick changes" of bathroom vanities, bathroom sinks, and bathroom accessories, even modest bathroom remodeling projects can pay big dividends when you sell your home. That's why bathroom remodeling ranks alongside kitchen remodeling as America's most popular home improvement. And, you don't have to break the bank to make a noticeable difference.

For example, changing just the vanity and bathroom sinks will quickly and easily change the look of your bathroom - and for far less money than you may think. Thanks to the plethora of bathroom remodeling sites on the Internet, bathroom vanities, bathroom sinks, and all types of bathroom accessories are available for every taste and budget - and at substantial discounts over what you would expect to pay at one of those big "box" stores. But, here's the best part: If you can use a hammer, drill, and wrench, you can accomplish this simple bathroom remodeling project by yourself - and save hundreds of dollars in the process.

Today's bathroom vanities are a far cry from the bathroom cabinets of the last century. From post-modern to baroque, colonial to contemporary, bathroom vanities set the tone for the bathroom design. Bathroom sinks have also been raised to the level of art, and it is wise to spend some time researching what you like, since bathroom sinks and bathroom vanities are "married" during the bathroom remodeling project. Some vanities are designed to accommodate a contemporary bathroom sink, such as the newly popular glass vessel and other above-top sinks, while others are designed to hold a traditional "submerged" or under-mounted bathroom sink. So, before you begin any bathroom remodeling project, be sure that the bathroom vanity you love will accommodate the bathroom sink you just have to have. And, don't forget the bathroom hardware. Choose the right hardware and faucets to enhance the look you are trying to achieve.

One last point to remember: The most important bathroom accessory is the mirror - and a quick update can dramatically change the "feel" of the room, making it appear larger, brighter, and more inviting.

So, there you have it - how you can boost your home's value and create a new look and feel for the most-used room in your house with a simple weekend bathroom remodeling project - and without having to take out a second mortgage!

Client testimonial: Mary Anne Robertson is a freelance writer and part-time home rehabber. "I like to find a house, fix it up, then sell it for a profit and buy another house. I learned a long time ago that one of the best investments I could make was to update the bathroom to make it look modern and inviting. Being a single mom, I had to learn to do a lot of the work myself—and I was surprised at just how easy it is. Even in a down market, if you know what you're doing and you buy smart, you can turn a profit."
