THE MISSING BIBLE

By Irvin L. Rozier

THE MISSING BIBLE by Irvin L. Rozier

This is a short version of story number 30 (out of 50) from my recently published book, My Walk with the Lord, www.selahbooks.com, barnes and noble, amazon.

Ephesians 6.17 "And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the spirit, which is the word of God."

On April 26, 2003, I went to a patriotic event at Memorial Stadium in Waycross, Georgia. There were many veterans present and several active duty personnel..Even Governor Perdue attended. Prayers for our nation were prayed, patriotic and gospel music was played, and speeches were made. I was proud to wear my old Army cap, and proud to be an American. Applause sounded as various veterans were honored—from World War II through the Iraqi war.

As I thought of my Army service, my mind went back to the day I raised my right hand and pledged to support and defend our nation. The Gideons had given us soldiers a New Testament on that day. That little book had followed me around the world but I had lost it. I loaned it out to a friend who had moved to South Carolina.

A few days later, this friend called me and I asked him had he seen my Army New Testament. He said no, his ex-wife probably had it. Two days later, he said the Holy Spirit told him to look in his box of rifle ammunition..On the very top of the box was my little Bible and a copy of the Lord's prayer. The most powerful ammunition of all was on the top!

On May 19, 2003, Mike came from South Carolina and brought me my Missing Bible. Jesus knows where everything is.

Hebrews 4.12 "For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discernor of the thoughts and intents of the heart."

THE MISSING BIBLE

Footnote,...On Novemeber 11, 2003, I was asked to give the opening and closing prayers at our local Veteran's Day Ceremony...I relayed this story and there was not a dry eye in them old vets eyes....The Lord hears and answers our prayers

Book Review - If You Give a Boy a Bible by Andy Holmes

On the surface, hot tubs, red Kool Aid, iguanas and shish-kebabs may not seem the perfect enticements towards promoting Bible reading for young children, but a reading of Andy Holmes newest book If You Give a Boy a Bible (Kregel Kidzone, May 2004, hardcover, 32 pages) shows that you can't make assumptions when it comes to kids.

Author and Illustrator Andy Holmes takes a humorous approach towards evangelization with this book, which is loosely reminiscent of the classic If You Give a Moose a Muffin. The opening pages of the story find a father sharing the Bible with his son and in turn taking time to read it with him. From here, the true action of the book begins as this gift leads to all kinds of imaginative thoughts. As the boy learns stories from the Bible, he begins to act out the accounts in his own little world.

Sprinkled throughout the book are references to classic Old Testament accounts. Readers will love how the boy absorbs and then finds his own take on the stories of Noah, Joseph, Moses and others. Holmes illustrations lend life to the story - I was particularly drawn to the variety of facial expressions in the book.

The book's end finds the boy sharing the gift he's received and loved so much with a friend. This gentle approach to witnessing to our faith will make sense to kids - who wouldn't want to share a gift that brings so much wisdom, enlightenment and fun? If You Give a Boy a Bible is aimed at children ages four through eight years of age, but I'm willing to predict that most grown ups will learn a thing or two from this enjoyable book.
