By Mike Yeager

Probably the most popular type of all underwear on the market for men is the boxer–brief. I think it's fair to say that this style of underwear has become the underwear of choice. Why? Well because it's a combination of the best of both. It has the loose feel and comfort of the boxer, but it still gives some support.

Whatever a man chooses as his favorite underwear style, from boxers to briefs, a man will feel more comfortable and confident if his underwear is comfortable and fits right. Cotton is the number one material when it comes to underwear because of its durability. It wears great and lasts a long time.

Centuries ago, underwear was only worn by wealthy nobles. With the introduction of linen in the 1700's even a humble peasant could afford to cover his nakedness under his clothes. It's only recently however, that men have begun to make fashion statements with their underwear; Muscular men in stylish underwear are now everywhere to be seen.
