

This Free E-Book is brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!

The Aviator (DVD) Review

By Britt Gillette

Nominated for 6 Golden Globes and 11 Academy Awards, including Best Picture, The Aviator wows audiences with its breadth of scenery and vivid realism. Director Martin Scorsese, known for a host of excellent films such as Raging Bull (1980), Goodfellas (1990), Casino (1995), and Gangs Of New York (2002) – not to mention the highly controversial The Last Temptation Of Christ (1988) – by no doubt turns out his best work since Tommy DeVito (Joe Pesci) sought to become a made man. The Aviator springs to life with nostalgic settings and a lavish tapestry of color and form, evoking all the enthusiasm indicative of Howard Hughes' unique lust for life. John Logan, known for such films as The Last Samurai (2003) and Gladiator (2000), presents a screenplay that provides some insight into the enigmatic Hughes and captures the mannerisms of those who shared that life with him. In short, the film is a masterpiece of visual imagery and first-rate cinematography few movie lovers can afford to miss...

The Aviator focuses on the early life (1930–1947) of America's most eccentric and bewildering billionaire playboy, Howard Hughes. Known for his seemingly erratic business dealings and fearless sense of adventure, Hughes (Leonardo DiCaprio) turned a small inherited fortune into an enormous corporate empire. And along the way, he captured the imagination of those around him with an attitude that embraced risk and life itself. Inheriting a majority interest in the Hughes Tool Company (founded by his father), Hughes embarks on a career in Hollywood where he produces a number of notable films including Hell's Angels, The Front Page, and Scarface. Hughes' obsessive dedication to perfection makes his stock rise in Hollywood and even helps launch the career of Jean Harlow...

But Howard Hughes is not just a one-trick pony, and his interest soon turns to the flourishing aviation industry where he becomes an integral part of TWA and pilots his own planes on a regular basis. His driving energy would lead Hughes to enter the defense industry, the electronics industry, Las Vegas casinos, and numerous other activities in the years ahead. But along the way, he deals with a cast of characters colorful in their own right. Romances with Ava Gardner (Kate Beckinsale) and Katherine Hepburn (Cate Blanchett) provide insight into Hughes' personal life, while Noah Dietrich (John C. Reilly), Hughes' assistant and right-hand man, sacrifices much in his own life to enable Hughes to live out his latest visions and inspirations. When Hughes makes the bold move of constructing the Spruce Goose – the largest airplane ever built (and able to land on water no less) – Senator Ralph Owen

The Aviator (DVD) Review

Brewster (Alan Alda) accuses the billionaire of war–profiteering. Hughes takes on the Senator full–force and with all the zest that marked his previous ventures. Vowing that the Spruce Goose will fly, in the face of highly publicized claims that it will not, Hughes proves his critics wrong, and the Spruce Goose rises to the occasion...

Despite its loss to Million Dollar Baby at the Oscars, The Aviator can take pride in being nominated as one of the best films of the year (along with Finding Neverland, Ray, and Sideways). And the film is certainly deserving of that high honor. Few films better illustrate the beauty of America, or more importantly, the mountains that can be moved when a single individual lives his life with ambition, drive, inspiration, and a naked enthusiasm for all that life has to offer. Overall, The Aviator is among the best films of the past several years, and movie aficionados would be well–advised to watch every last minute with same enthusiasm of a young Howard Hughes...

Britt Gillette is author of The DVD Report (

<http://thedvdreport.blogspot.com>

), a blog where you can find more reviews like this one.

Aviator Sunglasses

By Vivek Sharma

Aviator sunglasses have been the hot property since the presence aviators are there. They are said to be very popular among the pilots as they guard their eyes from the harmful UV rays while flying. Wholesale aviator sunglasses are not too heavy as it will be last thing you'll wish ones you are in air for few hours. But there is no hard and fast rule that pilots only wear these sunglasses. In fact anyone can wear them and that too at any part of the day. Whether you are driving or just strolling in the garden they can be worn, as they are guardian of your eyes.

Wholesale aviator sunglasses are also popular among non–pilots as they are made in different style and designs, which suits your personality. And what makes them stand tall among the list is their light frame and lenses, which sets on your face with an ease. They are said to be a rage among the men as they are very classy and masculine. Being the favorites of pilots and military men they were also featured in various Hollywood flicks like "Top Gun" and many more.

Basically they are designed in manner to suit the military that's why they generally have steel alloyed frame in order to provide a sturdy and rugged look. Aviator sunglasses usually come with distortion free lenses, as they are made of hardened material known as polycarbonate. Aviator sunglasses have proved to be very beneficial for military purposes as they are designed with special type of lenses with maximum vision. This helps them to distinguish between small and near by objects and also between fast flying machines like planes.

Aviator sunglasses' excellent perception and vision-free safety has created a stir among the people as now everyone is in a stride to have one. Their special feature in drive lenses, which reduces the glares significantly, has made them a hot property.

The author is budding web content writer and has much experience in writing quality content for many websites. You can view

his blog

for more information.

This Free E-Book has been brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!