

This Free E-Book is brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!

The Real Dangers to Kids Online and How to Avoid Them: Top 5 Internet Safety Tips

By Joshua Finer

The Real Dangers to Kids Online and How to Avoid Them: Top 5 Internet Safety Tips

by: Joshua Finer

The Real Dangers to Kids Online and How to Avoid Them

Did you know 1 out of 5 kids has been sexually solicited online 1 out of 4 kids has been sent a picture of naked people or people having sex online that May 21, 2002 there was the first death of a child linked directly to an Internet Predator?

Parents' biggest concern about the Internet used to be pornography, but there is definitely a greater fear today.

You have probably taught your child not to talk to strangers, and in many situations, they would remember this. But the Internet is different.

Due to the Internet's anonymity, strangers are talking to children all the time. They try to gain the child's trust by having friendly conversation at first, but over time, their true objective of sexually soliciting the child becomes evident. Children and parents alike are unaware of this, yet this is exactly what is going on via the Internet.

What can today's parent do? Armed with information, there's quite a bit a parent can do.

Software4Parents.com's Top 5 Internet Safety Tips

1. Tell your child to NEVER EVER reveal their name, address, phone number or any other personal information to ANYONE online. Once you give out this information, it is impossible to retract.
2. Communicate regularly (not just once) with your child about WHAT they do online and WHO they talk to online. If you have actually met the friends they are talking to in person, you'll know it is OK for them to chat with them online.

The Real Dangers to Kids Online and How to Avoid Them: Top 5 Internet Safety Tips

3. Take computers out of kids' rooms and put them into public areas such as the family room. Many parents think they are helping with homework by giving the kids a computer, but it also opens certain dangers that you may be unaware of.

4. Choose your child's screen name, email address or instant message name wisely – don't reveal ages, sex, hobbies, and CERTAINLY NOT suggestive or sexy names. Predators are more likely to pursue a child with the screen name "sexyteen5" than "happygirl5"

5. Use technology to help you protect your child. Monitoring software gives you the ability to review your child's Internet usage. Even if you don't look at each and every email or instant message they send, you'll have a good idea if they are making smart choices online.

The Internet can open many doors and provide useful information for children. An aware and informed parent can help keep children safe.

Resource: Joshua Finer, Internet Safety expert and CEO of Software4Parents.com For free information on choosing the right Internet safety product for your family, email choosing@software4parents.com or visit

Joshua Finer is a Penn State MBA and Internet Safety expert. Joshua has appeared on The Montel Williams Show, and in The Wall Street Journal, Christian Science Monitor, The Chicago Tribune and many more national media outlets,

Kitesurfing dangers

By Jakob Jelling

Kitesurfing dangers by Jakob Jelling

Kitesurfing is a very dangerous (or, as some people call it, extreme) sport. Before you try kitesurfing, you should definitely try to find out about all the potential kitesurfing dangers. The kitesurfing dangers may result from many different things: from equipment failure to human mistake to problematic weather conditions. Learning about the potential kitesurfing dangers will help you to prevent yourself from getting into dangerous situations and making dangerous mistakes.

Of course, there are very good safety systems available to prevent many kitesurfing dangers but these safety systems cannot protect you from every single danger. You will need to make sure that your equipment has a very good and reliable safety system and that you know how to use it and are comfortable with it. Practice using your safety system as much as you can. Also, make sure to study the safety systems guidelines provided by the manufacturer. If money is not an issue, try to purchase the best safety system available of the market.

Bad weather is probably one of the most important kitesurfing dangers, so try to make sure that you kitesurf only when the weather is good and there are no apparent dangers present. Also make sure that you know the weather forecast, since a sudden weather change can be very problematic. The kitesurfing dangers, including the bad weather danger, and present both when you are in the water and when you are on the surface. According to West Australian newspaper, the most dangerous time for a kitesurfer is when you are on the land because the equipment is designed for the water.

The Real Dangers to Kids Online and How to Avoid Them: Top 5 Internet Safety Tips

You should also be able to get the detailed operating instructions from your kite's manufacturer. To prevent the potential kitesurfing dangers, make sure that these instructions describe in details the specific techniques for launching and landing your kite and other techniques.

Jakob Jelling is the founder of <http://www.kitesurfingnow.com>. Visit his kitesite for the latest on kitesurfing equipment, kiteboarding lessons, places to surf and much more!

Related Content:

Read more Content at

Related Products:

: A genuine resource center for Quality Ebooks and Softwares

This Free E-Book has been brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!