The Real Story Behind Online Paid Surveys

By Ben Richardson

Online marketing research firms have been paying consumers to participate in surveys. The Web has granted them a more-efficient way to collect data. Many online paid surveys are now conducting legit research.

When there is easy-making money competition working from home, you can bet that there's also exaggeration, if not outright scams. Many Middleman sites will charge "membership" fees for access to lists of marketing research firms that conduct online paid surveys.

Some paid survey will try to dupe you into believing their lists are special. Don't be fool; search the Web to find that many sites are for free. According to messages on scam forums, their lists are essentially the same as others. Many listed membership sites will try to dupe you into buying the same list over and over again.

When you click the links or buy memberships, they earn referral fees or commissions, and some by hosting links and ads. Other middleman paid survey sites provide free lists. Some mentioned in scam forums the same list are at other membership sites, under different domain names. Natch, will make sure that these sites have incentive to exaggerate how much you'll earn from online paid surveys.

The 60+ paid survey sites review; most "pay" with token rewards in the form of goods, services, coupons or samples, but cash are only through sweepstakes. If you're lucky, the prizes from these sites are $5-200 in cash or goods and some pay with points which are redeemable for cash or goods.

Typically, you must rack up a bunch to redeem them for anything of significance. While others pay nothing or only sweepstakes entries for completing screening surveys, that determine your eligibility to receive certain paid surveys, and some don't pay much of anything, unless you recruit others as in pyramid schemes.

A few paid survey sites reviewed do pay relatively well in cash. You might, however, earn or win some extra spending money, or free or discounted goods or services.

The Real Story Behind Online Paid Surveys

Some paid survey sites effectively promise not to share personally information's without your consent, but unauthorized go-between membership sites can.

By joining, you might have also rolled out the red carpet for the membership site or its unnamed "marketing partners" to solicit you. Personally information is worth a small fortune to direct marketers. U.S. Federal Trade Commission pushed for legislation in 2002 to stop unsolicited telemarketing calls. Is it worth a few extra bucks, sweepstakes and token rewards for dealing with dozens of pestering privacy invasions?

All things considered, it's no surprise that some of the marketing research sites reviewed disclaim any connection with membership sites. Real paid survey sites pay you, not the other way around.

Paid surveys is a proven way of making money from home. Generate an additional $500 to $1500 a month with around 3 hours of work per day. Visit

Paid Surveys – Do They Really Work?

By Joey Merrick

Being paid to take online surveys has become a very sought after internet business. Simply pay a small fee to a paid survey site and they will send you a list of companies that will send the surveys to you.

All you need to do is sign up with these companies and the surveys will show up in your e-mail box and you will get compensated for your time. Depending on the company you can be paid in cash, entered into large cash drawings, or be compensated with discounts and merchandise.

The cash surveys can range from a couple of dollars for a really short survey to $15–25 for longer surveys that can take around 30 minutes to complete. Not bad wages... One problem that many people have is that they will sign up for some free survey list and then gripe that they get lousy surveys.

We have tried both and when we signed up with reputable survey companies we saw much better paying surveys as opposed to the sweepstakes, prizes, and $2 surveys we saw when we were being cheapskates.

Whenever you get surveys in your e-mail box they will tell you what kind of survey it is, what the compensation will be, and how long it will take to complete. So you will always be able to see if a particular survey is worth your time and effort.

Paid Surveys are a great way to earn some extra money in your spare time. The surveys show up in your inbox and you decide when and if you are going to fill them out. The key is to sign up with a reputable company that will give you the better paying surveys.
