

Time for a World-Class change!!

This Free E-Book is brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!

Time for a World-Class change!!

By James Sorrell

Time for a World-Class change!! by James Sorrell

It is time for the "equal opportunity for all" that technology makes possible!! We should have voice recognition so good by now that the keyboard would have been eliminated completely! Somebody is keeping the general public chained to a Model-T! The super-rich should be compelled to share, not just their surplus $$$ to eliminate poverty [365 of the world's richest people have as much $$$ as 2.6 BILLION of the poorest...that's 43 more than 1st class on the TITANIC!], but all the best toys so that there is equal opportunity for ALL!! Want to join a benevolent Revolution?? [The USA's Dec. of Indep. & Constitution allow an overnight change of the form of gov't. if the current one isn't working....it isn't!!! Other countries & peoples can join in too + everyone's welcome!] See the beginnings at (( <http://keeperofflame.proboards24.com/> . )) or <http://excoboard.com/exco/index?boardid=1979> or this site [Vaccine & 'Keeper of the Flame'] and E-mail me at Capt.Kirk@aggressive.com

Reply by Captain America

It's about time for the USA to reach its full potential [for the first time], with equal opportunity for ALL! Abraham Lincoln said that "Equal opportunity for every American was the un-finished work of America"!

Teacher: The Keeper of the Flame

World Class Heart

By Tony Papajohn

World Class Heart by Tony Papajohn

Have you ever heard of Eric Moussambani?

The 21-year-old swimmer represented Equatorial Guinea in the Sydney Olympics and competed in the 100-meter freestyle.

Time for a World-Class change!!

He didn't win a medal, but he does have heart.

Moussambani made it to the Olympics only because of a special program for developing countries.

He competed in the last preliminary heat and was the only swimmer in the pool. Two other swimmers were disqualified for false starts.

For most Olympic swimmers, this would hardly be a big deal. However, Moussambani had never seen, much less swam in, an Olympic-sized pool.

All Equatorial Guinea could offer him was a small hotel pool that he could use only when guests were not in it.

On top of this, Moussambani had been swimming for only 9 months, had never even swum 100 meters, wore an outdated pair of trunks, and knew little more than the rudiments of swimming.

Yet, he dove in and swam with all his heart.

After one lap, he felt extreme fatigue. However, despite his ungainly technique, he was determined to finish.

Seventeen thousand people began to root for this guy. They rose to their feet, cheering and shouting encouragement.

By the time he became aware of the crowd, he was so exhausted he could hardly move. Yet, in response to their enthusiasm, he gave a final effort and finished.

The crowd burst into thunderous and sustained applause as though he had won a medal.

His time was 1 minute and 52 seconds, far slower than a world-class swimmer.

The crowd did not care. This guy swam with all his heart.

To honor his effort, the Australian team presented him with a "fast suit" worn by world-class swimmers.

Eric Moussambani may not be a world-class swimmer, but he is world class.

Copyright 2004 by Tony Papajohn. Tonywrites and speaks on success. Subscribe to his free SuccessMotivator e-zine at <http://www.successmotivator.com>.

Time for a World-Class change!!

This Free E-Book has been brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!