Unique Wedding Gift Ideas

By Robert Benson

Are you looking for a non-traditional wedding gift? Do you want to elicit the oohs and ahhs of everyone?

Of course, you could go to the couple's gift registry and pick something from there, but then your gift wouldn't be unique.

Here are some tips to help you come up with some great unique wedding gift ideas, but first you must ask yourself these questions:

–what do you know about the couple? –what do they like? –where are they planning their honeymoon?
–what is their lifestyle? –what's their personality?

Here are some gift ideas to ponder:

1) Gift certificates to a spa for the bride and groom are great before or after the wedding. The wedding day is often stressful, so you could offer a day at the spa to prepare them for the wedding day or they could use it just after the honeymoon as they prepare to resume their daily activities.

2) Keepsake Box– As time goes by, memories begin to fade and what better and more unique gift than a special box where they can safely store all those precious mementos that become more cherished as the years go by? This box is perfect for things like: the marriage license, special photos, vows and all those other special keepsakes that often get lost as time passes.

3) Etched Glass Wedding Invitation– Have their wedding invitation or special verse engraved on a glass sculpture. This will be treasured for years to come and definitely unique. Or, for a little variation, get the actual invitation and make a homemade project out of it; mounting it on a glass plate and finishing it with a matching colored paint.

4) Name A Star For The Couple– The Universal Star Registry offers "couple stars" as part of their many Star Packages. You can choose from over twenty constellations you would like the star to be in including all twelve zodiac signs, Ursa Major (Big Dipper) or Ursa Minor (Little Dipper), Orion and many more. This gift package also has maps, a certificate of ownership, a fact sheet and helpful hints for viewing the stars. This is truly a marvelous gift for the special couple on their special day!

These are just a few suggestions and tips to help you pick some unique wedding gifts. Try to remember and take these into consideration the next time you want to give the perfect wedding gift to your friends or family.

Wonderful Wedding Gift Ideas Most People Don't Think Of

By Mark Anthony

Ever got stuck trying to come up with the "ultimate" wedding gift? Well, you are not alone. Each day thousands of people rack their brains trying to come up with unique wedding gift ideas, only to throw their hands up in frustration and buy any of the common wedding gifts being sold out there.

Below are some wonderful wedding gift ideas most people don't think of that you can use:

1. Gold-Plated Picture Frames – the perfect way to display favorite photos of their special day. Have them engraved with the couple's names and the wedding date for a treasured memory.
2. Etched Wine Glass – Have their wedding invitation, or other special verse engraved on a glass sculpture. This will be treasured for years to come, and definitely unique. Or, for a little variation, get the actual invitation, and mount it on a glass plate and finish it with matching colored paint.
3. Honeymoon Photo Album – this could be made out of wood, with something like "A Honeymoon to Remember" engraved on the cover a perfect place to capture those wonderful honeymoon memories.
4. Gift Certificates to a spa for the bride and groom are great before or after the wedding. The wedding day is often stressful, so you could offer a day at the spa to prepare them for the wedding day. Or, they could use it just after their honeymoon, as they prepare to resume their regular activities.
5. Keepsake Box – As time goes by, memories begin to fade, and what better and more unique gift than a special box where they can safely store all those precious mementos that become more cherished as the years go by This box is perfect for things like marriage license, special photos, place cards, vows, and all those other special keepsakes that often get lost as time passes.

6. Couples' Home Spa Kit – As an alternative for the day at the spa, you could give them a spa in a basket, including monogrammed robes, towels, and a few other relaxing items, like candles, bath and body lotions, some romantic music, and even engraved wine glasses accompanied by a bottle of wine for a special evening at home.

Now, who says coming up with the perfect wedding gift idea is hard? The next time you go to a wedding, try picking up any of the above wonderful wedding gift ideas and you would be surprised at how well it works!
