Kitchen odors are no match for the Rainbow vacuum fragrances and the Thermax vacuum fragrances.

If your kitchen odors are just too much to take at times, then what you might need to do may be as simple as putting a few drops of the Fresh Apple or Mulberry fragrance that is made specifically for water based vacuum cleaners such as the Rainbow vacuums or the Thermax vacuums in either the Rainbow 2 quart water basin or the Thermax recovery tank.

However, not everyone owns a Rainbow vacuum or even a Thermax vacuum because even though they are the two best water based vacuum cleaners on the market they are a bit pricey. This solution in this situation is to just put a few drops of one of these Rainbow fragrances in a pan of simmering water on your kitchen stove for a fresh smelling kitchen. It does the trick every time.

Smelly Shoes? Just a few drops on the inside of your shoes will do the trick. Exiee Enterprises suggest the Fresh Linen fragrance for shoes.

Another trick that some people do that seems to produce good results is putting a few drops of a Thermax fragrance directly on light bulbs. It is suggested that the drops be put on only after the bulb has cooled down.

To freshen up a bedroom just put a few drops of your favorite fragrance such as Floral Potpourri on a cotton ball or tissue and put it in the corners of a drawer that contains socks or underwear.

Another neat trick is to make your own potpourri by putting a few drops on anything you want. For example, put a 3 or 4 drops of the Gardenia or Magnolia Rainbow fragrance on some pine cones for an outdoor garden smell.

Has your old potpourri lost its fragrance? Don't throw it away, rejuvenate it with a squirt of Lemon or Vanilla fragrances.

For those that have a bag type vacuum cleaner it is very simple to squirt some cotton balls with Cinnamon Spice or Pumpkin Pie and put them in the bag.

For a new car smell put drops of Cherry on cotton balls or flat pieces of cardboard and put them under the front seat.

Another suggestion is to place cotton balls with a couple of drops of the Rainbow vacuum Oil of Eucalyptus with Menthol fragrance in your pillow when you have a bad cold.

It appears that there are many ways to use the Rainbow vacuum and Thermax vacuum fragrances to meet just about any odor challenge a person may find at home.

How Vacuum Cleaners Work

By Stefan Rockhaus

Most homes today have vacuum cleaners which are used for cleaning. It has been estimated that the "Whirlwind" was the first hand-powered cleaner that was made. It was invented in Chicago in 1865, and it has made cleaning a whole lot easier.

The functioning of a vacuum cleaner is dependant on air pressure. It sucks up air via the front, and releases it out of the end filter. Older models of vacuum cleaners work using a motor attached to a fan. These cleaners look like a bag.

Generally in most vacuum cleaners there is a front end with an opening. The fan inside the vacuum cleaner produces a semi suction effect to suck up dust, waste papers, and whatever else is on the surface, along with air. After that, the air is then pushed into a bag in which the particles get entrapped, but the air escapes via tiny holes in the bag.

Another vacuum cleaner is a canister vacuum, which works in a similar way. In this type of cleaner, a filter is in the back of the vacuum, and a canister is attached in the front to accumulate the dust or debris. It collects the dirt, and then the filters prevent this dirt from going anywhere. Unlike old vacuum cleaners, here it does not require the changing of bags.

If the sucking power of the cleaner is reduced, it can be due to a number of different reasons. The foremost reason is the clogging of the filters, as this does not let the air through properly. This can happen to both of the above mentioned cleaners, because their working depends on various filter systems.

Just like any other home appliances, vacuum cleaners are also available in different varieties. Generally, vacuum cleaners are available in the market with a number of attachments to reaching those places which are otherwise very difficult, or impossible to reach.

In short, it can be said that the vacuum cleaner has made cleaning very convenient. Now you can clean each and every nook of your home more effectively, and with so much less hassle. When buying a vacuum cleaner, the one which sucks in the maximum number of particles and releases the fewest back into the environment would be the first choice. Additionally, it must be easy to operate, and safe and healthy to use. It is not that tough to choose an effective vacuum cleaner.

Also be sure that you do not become prey to the marketing tricks that are played by vacuum cleaner manufacturers to promote their product.
