We Regret to Announce

We Regret to Announce by James Stevens

We mournfully announce the passing of two of our most dearest members, Somebody and Someone Else.

This unexpected loss creates a huge void that will be nearly impossible to fill. Somebody and Someone Else had been with us for many years. Year after year as our church grew and group leadership was needed or mentioned, why everyone looked to and leaned upon Somebody or Someone Else for inspiration and results. And whenever there was a job to do, or a class to teach, a song to sing, or even a meeting to attend. Why surely it was always mentioned "Let Somebody or Someone Else do it."

Most of you are totally unaware that Somebody and Someone Else were also among the largest sacrificial and most generous givers to the church. Why, whenever there was a financial need of any kind that needed to be met, everyone knew that surely Somebody or Someone Else would make up the difference when the offering plate passed by.

These beloved church members were such wonderful persons, but as happens all too often, everyone really expected too much from Somebody or Someone Else.

So please, If asked to take on a task or project at church, please remember that our dearly departed Somebody or Someone Else isn't available. And pray for us, because now we need people to really pitch in to do the things that Somebody Else has been doing for far too long and to pick up where Someone Else has left off.

How to Write a Children's Book in 30 Days or Less!

How to Write a Children's Book in 30 Days or Less! by Caterina Christakos

How to Write a Children's Book in 30 Days or Less!

The first time I attempted to write a children's book it took me three months and several years of promising myself I would do it "one day." In that time I managed to wash the dog a million times, rearrange my closet, get my apartment so clean that they should have done a commercial about it and procrastinate in ways that gave the word a new name.

When I actually sat down to write the book it took me two days and that was with editing. That is the longest that it has taken me to write a children's book since then and in reality, unless you are writing an epic it will not take you more than that period of time to write yours either, after you read this article.

Why then the title, "How to Write a Children's book in 30 days or less?" So that you will have time to wash the dog, clean the closets and get Mr. Clean to personally come in and interview you, in addition to writing a children's book that you will treasure forever.

The Six Keys to Getting Past Procrastination

–Visualize– Visualize your goal. Visualize your Story. Visualize your life the way you want it to be.

–Prepare– Prepare your work space. Prepare your family for your writing schedule. Prepare yourself for all the possibilities that will open up to you.

–Create– Create an environment that you can work in. Create characters that you will enjoy spending time with. Create an entire world for them to come to life in.

–Announce– Announce out loud to yourself every morning what your goal is. Announce to those supportive of you that you are finally going to put pen to paper. Announce your need for their support and cooperation.

–Collaborate– Collaborate with other writers for ideas.

We Regret to Announce

Collaborate with your children and find out what kids actually want to hear about. Collaborate with librarians in your area to see what types of stories are selling.

–Proceed– Proceed with your plan every day. Proceed to add pictures and ideas to your treasure map. Proceed toward the future that you deserve.

If you follow these six steps diligently, you should have more than enough time to write your book, give Fido his bath and make sure that your summer clothes are at the front of your closet. Good luck and have fun.
