

This Free E-Book is brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!

Who Are Your Kids Talking To Online?

By Maria Estarellas

Who Are Your Kids Talking To Online? by Maria Estarellas

Did you know that 1 out of 4 children were sent pictures of people who were naked or having sex?

That 1 out of 5 children were solicited for sex on the Internet?

About 50% of people on the Internet have made phone calls with someone they chatted with online.

Knowing this, do you know what strangers are saying to your kids?

What can you do to protect your children from unscrupulous people in the Internet?

Nowadays, children and teens spend more time on the computer. Even though the Internet has become the primary source of communication for them, it is also a dangerous place.

There are some unscrupulous people out there that would go to any extent to engage in indecent conversations and relationships with your children.

A study revealed that 30% of 1,200 teenagers had been sexually harassed online and about 50% had conducted cyber love affairs, visited porn sites and read their parents' e-mails.

Curiosity can be very dangerous. Even though this is normal at their age, curiosity can lead to giving out personal information such as names, addresses, phone numbers, school names and more.

Since the other person talking to your kids cannot be seen, a 60-year old can pose as a 16-year old and win your kid's trust very easily.

I know that we, as parents, are not always watching what our kids are doing online but it's important to know the options we have to protect our children and avoid major problems.

Who Are Your Kids Talking To Online?

There are blocking softwares that you can purchase to filter web sites containing sex, sexuality and other adult sites. You can also get a spy software that will let you know everything your kids are doing online.

These softwares will monitor instant messages, chats, emails, web site URLs and much more. Not only do you see what your child types online but what is said back as well. They monitor both incoming and outgoing activity.

Additionally, your kids will not be able to get around the software programs by clearing cache or history because they get everything as it happens, including passwords.

These software programs run in total secrecy, and are very hard to find in the computer. They will not slow down your computer, or do anything noticeable to the user. In order to see the recorded information, all you do is enter your secret password and they will activate...but only for you.

These programs do not appear in the START menu, nor will they appear in the CTR-ALT-DEL Task Manager.

Protect Your Children Now. For more information, click here
<http://www.1mykids.com/page/page/971842.htm>

Maria Estarellas is the webmaster for <http://www.1mykids.com> "The Complete Website For The Whole Family". Her website includes information on how to apply for scholarships, parenting tips, crafts, games, school projects and essays, music downloads, clothing, candles, hobbies for Mom and Dad, information on how to start your own online business, mortgage tips, beauty tips and more.
meg2@aweber.com

The Real Dangers to Kids Online and How to Avoid Them: Top 5 Internet Safety Tips

By Joshua Finer

The Real Dangers to Kids Online and How to Avoid Them

Did you know 1 out of 5 kids has been sexually solicited online 1 out of 4 kids has been sent a picture of naked people or people having sex online that May 21, 2002 there was the first death of a child linked directly to an Internet Predator?

Parents' biggest concern about the Internet used to be pornography, but there is definitely a greater fear today.

You have probably taught your child not to talk to strangers, and in many situations, they would remember this. But the Internet is different.

Who Are Your Kids Talking To Online?

Due to the Internet's anonymity, strangers are talking to children all the time. They try to gain the child's trust by having friendly conversation at first, but over time, their true objective of sexually soliciting the child becomes evident. Children and parents alike are unaware of this, yet this is exactly what is going on via the Internet.

What can today's parent do? Armed with information, there's quite a bit a parent can do.

Software4Parents.com's Top 5 Internet Safety Tips

1. Tell your child to NEVER EVER reveal their name, address, phone number or any other personal information to ANYONE online. Once you give out this information, it is impossible to retract.
2. Communicate regularly (not just once) with your child about WHAT they do online and WHO they talk to online. If you have actually met the friends they are talking to in person, you'll know it is OK for them to chat with them online.
3. Take computers out of kids' rooms and put them into public areas such as the family room. Many parents think they are helping with homework by giving the kids a computer, but it also opens certain dangers that you may be unaware of.
4. Choose your child's screen name, email address or instant message name wisely – don't reveal ages, sex, hobbies, and CERTAINLY NOT suggestive or sexy names. Predators are more likely to pursue a child with the screen name "sexyteen5" than "happygirl5"
5. Use technology to help you protect your child. Monitoring software gives you the ability to review your child's Internet usage. Even if you don't look at each and every email or instant message they send, you'll have a good idea if they are making smart choices online.

The Internet can open many doors and provide useful information for children. An aware and informed parent can help keep children safe.

Resource: Joshua Finer, Internet Safety expert and CEO of Software4Parents.com For free information on choosing the right Internet safety product for your family, email choosing@software4parents.com or visit

Joshua Finer is a Penn State MBA and Internet Safety expert. Joshua has appeared on The Montel Williams Show, and in The Wall Street Journal, Christian Science Monitor, The Chicago Tribune and many more national media outlets,

The Real Dangers to Kids Online and How to Avoid Them: Top 5 Internet Safety Tips
Ten Ways to Get Your Kids to Listen to You
Self Defense Protection – Keeping Kids Safe Online
Luggage For Kids

Seventeen Reasons To Homeschool Your Kids

The Alphabet of Birds

Online Dating Secrets Revealed!

Scams Exposed

Understanding Acne: Causes, Cures and Myths

Real Estate Investment for Beginners

This Free E-Book has been brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!