Who Lives Your Life?

Who Lives Your Life?

We often hear people make remarks like "I live my life to the full" or "No one tells me what to do" and so forth. Those who make such remarks are either worldly people or people whose attitudes are dominated by the world.

Following The World

Things are, or should be, very different for the Christian. Why? Simply because someone who is imitating Jesus cannot at the same time be imitating the world. Revelation 12.9 tells us two interesting facts. The first is that, when the ancient serpent, or Satan was defeated he was not consigned to hell but was hurled to the earth, and his angels with him.

Secondly, we are told that Satan leads the whole world astray. Consequently, those who follow the world follow Satan. Perhaps not knowingly, nor willingly. But then, Satan cares little about how much people know or whether they would do what they do willingly if they knew differently!

What is the alternative? How do we guard ourselves against being misled? How do we avoid being duped by Satan?

Following Jesus = Following The Spirit

Every Christian has been given Jesus as his/her model. His is the example we follow – in everything!

This is not easy but it is something we have to keep pursuing. Now, in John's gospel Jesus makes a particular principle of his very clear. On several separate occasions he tells us that he never does anything except that it is in the Father's will for him (e.g. John 5. 19; 5. 30, 77. 16;8. 29). It is therefore our task to live as nearly as possible in the Father's will. It is no more than Jesus has instructed us. How do we do it?

Who Lives Your Life?

Living Through The Spirit

We are given the Holy Spirit to be our mentor. A mentor is someone who guides us. He is wise and trusted advisor. Someone we can rely on totally to give us the very best direction in whatever circumstance we might find ourselves in, whatever problems and decisions we are faced with.

The Bible uses the term "Paraclete". (Some bibles use the term "Counsellor" as in John 14. 26) This is a Greek word and can sound a bit off-putting to us. But the Greeks had a type of boat which was sent out to ships which were in difficulties. It was called a paracletos, which gives us another insight into the intended role of the Holy Spirit in our lives.

Yet we do not have to be in difficulties before we can turn to the Holy Spirit for assistance. The example of Jesus is that we should seek the Spirit's guidance at every turn of our lives.

Starting Small

On the whole, what we see of Jesus in the gospels is his handling of the big things in his life. Yet the letter to the Hebrews tell us in chapter 5.7 – 8 that, through his prayer, Jesus learned to submit to the Father's will. In fact, his obedience came only through suffering.

We suffer whenever we have to bend our own will to that of someone else. We seem to have an inbuilt desire to do our own thing. And that is something the world encourages in us. Just take notice to a few TV adverts to see that.

Now, where other people are concerned, we can often argue that we know as well as they do. But where God is concerned we can never say that. God always knows best – and even more, God's love for us is so pure that he never acts except in our best interest. Hence we can never do better for ourselves than to do what God wants us to do!!!

It's not always easy to hear God. In fact, there are two general situations. The first is when God speaks, as it were, without prompting. He just says something – and there is always something about that which marks it out from the usual kind of thoughts. Secondly, there are those times when we are asking God about something. Then it can be more difficult to hear him. If you meditate regularly on Scripture, you will soon get used to discerning his communications. (This is discussed at some length in my book "The Keys To Christian Mediation", but is rather too involved to detail in a short article)

If we have not tried to discern God's will for us on a daily basis, we should start small. Ask him about the small things first: if the forthcoming weekend is free, ask how to spend it; if thinking about buying a book, ask the Spirit whether or not you should – or which one, if there are alternatives. Small things like this.

Leave the bigger things until some experience has been gained. But the objective is to gradually bring the whole of one's life under the domain of the Spirit. Then he lead our life. We do not lead it ourselves. And it is all the better for that!

The Science of Happy

The Science of Happy
(by Susan James)

When we truly ask to be happy...our lives begin to re-arrange themselves, in order to bring us that Happy Vibration.

Some of us get blind sided, because we think that Happy will show up, while our lives remain, look and feel the same.

If we aren't happy now.....and we ask for happy. Something has to move out of the way. Happy can not reside in the same space as unhappy. It doesn't fit.

Those of us learning higher skills can apply these skills to our lives as the changes come. And Oh....the changes will come.

We can do it the hard way, or the easy way.

Just beware....and know.....if we ask for happy.....things begin to move and re-arrange themselves to bring us Happy.

Who Lives Your Life?

Are You Really Ready To Have Your Prayers Answered?

When we focus on something wonderful in our lives, such as our desires/intentions, a lot of things in our life are going to fall apart. Why? Because the energy that holds them together must be set free so that what we are wanting to have in our lives can be re-formed.

For your consideration, THIS is what happens to those of us who are NOT using higher skills as we begin building the happy vibration:

1. We Ask for Happy.
2. Happy begins its way to our lives. (We Ask, We Receive.)
3. Things begin to change in our lives.
4. Fear sets in, because it appears that we may begin losing some aspects of our current life. We begin to try and hold on to those things in our life, because they are familiar and we know what they are and do and look like. We've convinced ourselves that this is what SAFE looks and feels like.
5. The Unknown....which contains our Happy Stuff, is still trying to find a place to fit in our lives. But we change our focus from Happy....to holding on to what is appearing to try and leave.
6. As we hold on to what needs to go, we automatically dilute and send away the very thing we have asked for; The Happy Stuff. And there we are once again.....Unhappy. Inconsistent in our days, and still asking for happy, not having a clue what we are actually doing to ourselves and what we are missing.

HOWEVER, For those of us who ARE using higher skills as we ask for Happy to show up, THIS is what happens:

1. We apply our higher mechanics, (which are very easy to do) to our days. Then as changes begin occurring we are able to welcome the changes. And the changes don't feel fearful, but they feel exciting.
2. And as any of us know who study any higher work, anything that feels exciting to us, is a huge message–breadcrumb (Pay Attention!) from God–Ourselves–Consciousness–/Universe. And that message is:

Celebrate This Life! Have Fun! And here is Your Stuff! Eat Cake!
3. And just to be clear: These changes will come about in our money life, our work life, our relationships, our health. All of it.

Who Lives Your Life?

THEREFORE: Again the Question: Are You Really Ready To Have Your Prayers Answered?

And if you are.....better be having your Tool Box handy!
