Who Wants to Be An Internet Guru? I Do? Do YOU?

The Internet Gurus.

What do they do?

How do they get so rich?

What do they have in common?

Are these the questions going through your mind when you ask yourself,

"Heh, if they can do it, maybe I can too?"

These are the questions Rob Parnell answers in his new ebook, "Be an Internet Guru, Write Your Ebook Fast"

From the title of this book, you might think,

"Do I really want to be a guru?"

To many people, what comes to mind is an image similar to a con artist, a rip off scam, a bunch of hype, when you state the term "internet guru."

Is your opinion of the guru's that it's all a bunch of hype and BS?

You may already have the credit card debt to prove it. So why would anyone want to buy a book teaching them all the dirty tricks of the gurus?

There are a few things that really intrigued me about this ebook. To begin with, there are no affiliate links promoting any other program embedded in this ebook. It is a 164 page pdf. The author tells you in an entertaining way, stories you can identify with, and explains why these gurus are doing so well.

He also states,

"It is very possible to make money online, being sincere and honest."

The reason I like this, and totally agree, is because this is the approach I have chosen to take with my reviews.

Although most of my reviews you will read, will be in a positive nature, I don't hesitate to say what I don't like about the ebooks and products I review.

This is not Rob's first ebook. He launched the ebook, "How to Write Your Novel Fast!" back in October of 2002. When he shared with me through email recently, how many copies of his first ebook he has already sold, I was totally flabbergasted.

I did some research at the search engines on this ebook, and found some very positive postings on it. For more information on these postings send an email to rob@you2cansellonline.com

You see, I do make money through affiliate links by promoting my reviews. I don't try to camouflage or hide that fact. I also deliver, above and beyond to my subscribers and loyal customers with extra service and bonuses.

Rob shows how the curiosity of the internet, and the idea of having freedom to control your own life, income and future intrigues us all to wonder if we can do it too. He does this by relating it to a story you can identify with. He then breaks it down into manageable steps---- he answers the questions that most people have the steps to what it will take in time, knowledge, and desire to accomplish your goal and skills you need to acquire and reach your writing and marketing goals.

He also describes in detail, how to run your online business with integrity and honesty. Yet, in still aspiring to these goals, he tells you what you must absolutely do to be sure you to achieve success.

It is written in a wonderful and easily flowing style, that keeps you reading and wanting to grasp every word. His advice comes from the voice of experience, after careful testing and study.

It reads more like a novel, than a boring how to book. With that style, it is like the thriller book, the book you don't want to put down until you've read the whole thing.

Rob addresses issues like why people expect info for free, and the real reality of this concept. how your own perception of earning money online, can be standing in your way. exactly what you need to do, and how often, in an easy to use 10 step action plan. In exact step by step detail, he covers, not only the writing of the actual book, but also how to package, and promote it as well.

He even gives you examples of what you need to do in followup messages once a sale has been made.

On the other hand, there had always existed plenty of "experts."

In olden days folks were forced to rely on the now outdated, 'expert' for knowledge and virtuosity.

When it comes to Internet marketing there are no experts, only Gurus.

You remember what an 'expert' is, don't you!

Well, as a distinguished Chinese gentleman named Charlie Chan, once said, "An expert is a person who provides quick answers that are sometimes correct."

While, as Charlie says, an 'expert' may only from time to time, correctly assume a fact, a Guru never ever suffers from this fallacy.

A Guru just knows all!

You see, the only quality the 'expert' lacks is perfection, otherwise he would be a Guru!

There is one other distinguishing characteristic you'll notice when sorting out a Guru from an 'expert'. An 'expert' is either, self designated or quickly proclaims the title, while a Guru leaves that function to his associates.

As a lad I was just naive enough to believe that the world only offered us one or two true Gurus.

Naturally, I had heard of the mysterious Dalai Lama with his universal wisdom, and maybe about a couple of odd characters hanging out in Tibet, but that was it.

I truly believed that these few individuals summed up the entire Guru population. Then I discovered the Internet.

What a revelation!

When it comes to Internet marketing, the supply of Gurus gives the impression of being endless.

Every day I read of several new Gurus who have recently startled the Internet community by unearthing the 'real' secrets of marketing success.

Thankfully, these Gurus are graciously releasing their deep dark secrets of Internet prowess, even though it may be for a limited time only, and at a compensation said to be ridiculously low for a Guru of their obvious stature.

The Internet is amazing, even Gurus mark down their wisdom!

For awhile, I feared that once these 'secrets' were released our favorite Guru would quickly pack up and take their meditation elsewhere.

But not to worry, as new hidden secrets of Internet marketing are needed, more and more Gurus appear to permeate the Web thus eliminating any major concern of a shortage.

I often ponder, can this abundance of Gurus last, is there a University somewhere that grinds them out, a sort of Guru U!

Perhaps, we ought to just count blessings and gleam as much as we can from these modern day wonders of the cosmos.

After all, shouldn't we be content that there are helpful Gurus everywhere on the Internet, with or without a toga.

They seem to be everywhere these days. In fact, while shaving this morning, I could swear I spotted a Guru in my own bathroom mirror!
