Why Choose An Emerald Cut Ring As An Engagement Ring

By Low Jeremy

After that overwhelming marriage proposal, it's now time to start with the tedious task of wedding preparation. One of major considerations—before and during the wedding—is choosing for an engagement ring.

Aside from the usual round or heart-shaped diamond rings, one of the most preferred cuts used in engagement rings is the emerald cut. Categorized as one of diamond's valuable "fancy cuts," emerald cut engagement ring are becoming more and more popular choice for engagement rings because they look quite sophisticated.

Technically, emerald cut diamond engagement rings can either be square or rectangular. It also has cut corners, thus, resembling a box when you from above. Also known as "step cut" for having facets that resemble stair steps, emerald cut diamond engagement rings has fewer facets compared to the round cuts.

If you are not into glittery, sparkling rings, choose emerald cut diamond as engagement ring because it only has 25 facets compared to 58 facets of the usual round shaped-diamonds. Or if you want an engagement ring that looks big as much as possible, try emerald cut diamond engagement ring because it greatly enhances the appearance of the stone by having facets arranged in rectangular steps or rows above and below the girdle that creates the illusion of a large and perfect stone.

The Engagement Ring Bling

By Donna Monday

How much should you spend on a diamond engagement ring?

$100?

$1000?

How about a whopping $1 million?

That's what Donald Trump just spent on an engagement ring for his lovely wife to be, Melania Knauss. Can you imagine what it must be like to wear any ring worth that much on a daily basis?

The Donald must hire beefy security guards with names like Wolfgang and Spike just to watch over Melania every time her and her delicate ring finger step out the door.

Buying expensive diamond jewelry for their significant others seem to be a Trump family trait. Well, you've gotta do something with all that money besides invest in real estate deals.

Trump's son, Donald Jr. has just proposed to his fiancée, Vanessa Haydon, with a very impressive four-carat emerald cut diamond ring with a diamond-encrusted platinum band. However, Vanessa's ring can be considered a real bargain at a cost of only $100,000.

Why Choose An Emerald Cut Ring As An Engagement Ring

While most regular folks will not be able to come close to spending that kind of money on an engagement ring for their sweethearts, there are still many very wonderful options if you're looking to buy a diamond engagement ring, wedding ring, or wedding band online.

You should be able to find the perfect ring online to fit into your budget. You can even buy a custom engagement ring or wedding ring for a very reasonable price.

So take comfort in the fact that you don't have to be rich like the Trumps to present your loved one with a truly beautiful engagement ring that will make everyone feel very rich indeed.
