Work from Home Building Content Sites

fortune off of article-based websites, but how do you really create a good website that will allow you to make money when you work from home?

Article based sites, generally coded with affiliate based content-driven ads from suppliers such as Google with their AdSense program, are the "newest thing" in the online marketing arena. Everyone is hoping to grab their fortunes utilizing this style of website, but the real question is "How do you really make money?"

If you go to popular websites such as eBay and look up the term "work from home" or "adsense" you will undoubtedly find hundreds (if not thousands) of work from home "opportunities" that you can purchase for anywhere from $30 – $30,000. How do you know which ones are worth buying, and better yet, how much of "an opportunity" is it if you have to buy it?

It is important when you evaluate a work from home program, you do your research, whether it be an AdSense site, selling communications products, or even sellingcandles (this is a great money maker by the way – see

The primary focus of this article though, is utilizing content to create a content-driven site that will make good money utilizing adsense.

There are literally hundreds of books on the subject of Adsense alone, but all you really need to know is how to write a good article (great tips at www.essayprofits.com).

If you have ever looked through eBay at the work from home opportunities utilizing Google's Adsense program, you have seen hundreds of sites all claiming to be "new to ebay" or "the newest thing" or some other tagline sales pitch. The truth of the matter is, they are all a waste of money! You heard it here folks. Take it from someone who is making in excess of $5k a month just off adsense alone – I have never made a dime off some pre-fab adsense site bought from eBay.

The simple truth is that these sites sold at auction are oversold which leads to saturation in the market (meaning there are too many of the identical site). Once Google sees a few identical sites, it will drop them all as "dupes" (short for duplicates). These sites, after selling about 20–30 copies, basically become garbage. So how do you make money with adsense then?

In order to get quality traffic to your site, you need to write your own content and think "outside the box" to get visitors to your site. There are many ways to do this and by talking to experienced marketers, you too could be making serious cash with content-driven sites.

Sex Sites Are Not The Only Ones That Can Pull In

Sex Sites Are Not The Only Ones That Can Pull In by Chris Ryan

Theme Based Web Sites verses Mini Web Sites:

It's long been a matter of conjecture when it comes to building theme based web sites or building a series of mini sites.

Some of the Internet marketing gurus say that building big 20 plus page theme based web sites is the way to go. and yes the search engines love those type of sites.

Other marketing gurus swear by a series of mini sites of between 3 to 5 pages and containing good content about the product being offered on the site and the search engines like these type of sites too. You might call these sites mini theme based sites.

Ok! It seems to me that you could make an excellent living going either way.

So where do we go from here? Theme based or mini sites. Why don't we think out of the box somewhat?

Is there some reason why we could not combine the 2 types of sites, theme based and mini sites. If both types contain good content for the humans of our world and both, were optimised for the search engines then it would seem to me that we could have the best of both worlds.

Building mini sites can be done quite cheaply and easily especially if you own Phil Wiley's killer mini sites and learn how to go about it.
