

Working on your tan!

This Free E-Book is brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment
Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!

Working on your tan!

By Working on your tan!

Working on your tan! by Working on your tan!

Working on your tan!

by Working on your tan!(c) 2003

One of my favorite sayings is 'youth is wasted on the young'. I think Shakespeare said it first but I heard it a lot from my Mom. Now that I am older, I can see what she meant. Life is funny like that.

During my teens and early twenties, back in the non-electronic days of the sixties, we were focused on good looks. We spent bookoo dollars on make up and hair and spent hours 'working' on our tan. We weren't into the physical part of looking good and fit. We focused on staying relaxed, looking tan and wealthy. We of the Pepsi Generation were all about how you look not how you feel.

Anyway, I can now see the meaning of the saying 'youth is wasted on the young'. All the time and 'energy' I spent 'working' on my tan would have been better used for something lucrative or productive. My youth did not comprehend that concept and quite frankly, it was not in my level of need. However, like most every thing in life, it can be turned into a good learning experience.

As an adult, working at home and establishing my place on the net as an entrepreneur takes a lot of time. I work 40 hours a week at my day job (no comments from the peanut gallery about not quitting my day job, smile). Those 40 hours are nothing compared to the time and energy spent working for myself. The net is a vast array of information with numerous highways pointing in various directions. In an effort to find out where you are going without a map,

Working on your tan!

When they are outside, it is best to keep them in a fenced in yard as they have a tendency to take off if they discover an interesting scent or see a critter in the area.

Originating in the United States, the Black and Tan Coonhound was developed by crossing the Bloodhound and Foxhound. They were mainly used to hunt raccoon, but are also good opossum and other game hunters. They are known for their excellent tracking ability.

With their high energy level and love for hunting and being outdoors, the Black and Tan Coonhound needs a family that will meet their activity needs. While they are an active breed, they are surprisingly calm when they are home hanging out with their family. They make a good family companion for any family dynamic willing to give them the exercise and play that they need.

Learn more about the Black and Tan Coonhound at or to talk with other dog lovers visit us at

This Free E-Book has been brought to you by Natural-Aging.com.

Working on your tan!

100% Effective Natural Hormone Treatment

Menopause, Andropause And Other Hormone Imbalances
Impair Healthy Healing In People Over The Age Of 30!